56 Germans Surrender to Yank Sergeant—Using his fluent German, Sgt. Olin Dows talked to a hidden group of Germans in an area under American attack in France, begging them to surrender. The sergeant thought there were about five or six of the enemy . . . and was he surprised when 56 Nazis accepted his invitation and came out with their hands up . . . as you can see here.

Yanks in Rhine Valley

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—British troops were believed thrusting deeper into Holland and solidifying their hold on Belgium today as official silence still cloaked the whereabouts of the swift American forces which were variously reported across the German border in the Rhine valley. Supreme headquarters had no confirmation of reports that the German frontier had been crossed.

The fast-moving Third Army under Lt. Gen. Patton presumably had been on the go for three days under a complete security blackout—such as those which marked the American lightning dash across the Brittany peninsula, the cutoff drive north from Le Mans to close the Falaise gap and the dash past Paris through Orleans.

Unconfirmed reports received at the Swiss-French frontier said Allied forces had captured Aachen, Germany, three miles across the frontier and 25 miles northeast of the Belgian city of Liege, and Saarbrucken, Germany, two miles across the frontier and 70 miles east of Verdun.

An earlier report quoted reliable information as saying Patton's mobile offensive had reached Strasbourg, France, on the Rhine frontier 70 miles east of Nancy.

Supreme headquarters explained the blackout on information was in force to keep the Germans baffled over the direction and speed of the American advance.

By past performance, it would be quite possible for the Third Army to have driven anywhere 50 to 75 miles.

Ahead of the ground forces American heavy bombers and fighters carried the attack into Germany, plastering the Karlsruhe rail yards through which the Nazis have to funnel reinforcements into the Starsbourg-Saarbrucken area. Lightnings caught a whole fleet of Germans planes on improvised and virtually undefended air fields and destroyed 60 on the ground.

Heavy fighting was reported in the siege of Brest on the Brittany peninsula, where a diehard garrison still held out.

It was announced Third Army prisoners of war had mounted to 76,000. Enemy wounded were estimated at 61,500 and enemy dead at 19,500.

Behind the British spearheads operating in Belgium and Holland, Canadians fought their way to within three miles of Boulogne on the rocket coast of France. Other British forces were closing in on Calais and Dunkerque to wipe out the last hold of the Nazis on the Channel ports.

To the north a British flying column which captured Brussels and Antwerp in a 48-hour border-to-border sweep across Belgium was reported to have raced through Breda, five miles inside Holland, and to be pushing down the last 28 miles to the important port of Rotterdam.

Behind these advances Ger-

Solid arrows indicate Allied drives along the western front today, based on Allied communiques and field dispatches. Open arrows indicate potential Allied drives into the Rhine valley beyond the German border. Reports have it that the Yanks have crossed the Moselle between Nancy and Metz, reaching the "holy soil" of Germany at Strasbourg . . . as Brussels and Antwerp fall to British.

Demobilize Plans Ready

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The armed forces laid before the House military committee today their plans to demobilize the huge American war machine when peace comes, but imposed a 24-hour secrecy on the details.

Chairman May (D.) of Kentucky, said the War Department would make the outline public at noon Wednesday.

Meeting with the committee were Maj. Gen. William F. Tompkins, chief of the special planning branch; Brig. Gen. Edward W. Smith, executive for reserve officers and the ROTC; Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of Selective Service, and his principal aide, Col. Francis V. Keesling. The Navy was represented by Capt. William R. Terrell whose job corresponds with that of Gen. Tompkins.

At the other end of the Capitol, Senator Thomas (D.) of Utah, acting chairman of the military committee, said representatives of the War Department had been discussing plans for readjustment of Army personnel after the defeat of Germany with his committee.

The conferences, he stated, were sought by Sec'y Stimson whom he comended for "full cooperation with the legislative branch."

"As the plan for release of personnel and readjustment of military personnel after the defeat of Germany affects hundreds of thousands of people, and hundreds of thousands of households in America," Thomas said, "the War Department did not want to go ahead without consultation with the representatives of the people."

Nazis Stiffen In Italy

By GEORGE TUCKER

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP)—Canadian troops of the Eighth Army, supported by British warships standing offshore, drove last night to within six miles of Rimini but Allied headquarters declared today they were meeting increased resistance as they edged closer to the eastern terminus of the Po Valley highway.

The Nazis reacted vigorously to the Conca river bridgehead which the Canadians established after a slashing two-prong drive during the last three days. Bitter fighting raged along the ridge running south from Alessina to Misano.

Reds at Narew Peril E. Prussia

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Russian troops have crossed the historic Narew river in their new, full-fledged offensive toward East Prussia, the German radio asserted late today.

At its nearest point just west of Lomza, the Narew flows within 12 miles of the southern frontier of East Prussia. On the eastern frontier of the German province Russian armies have been deployed for about three weeks.

"Between the Bug and Narew the Russians continued their breakthrough attempts with vast forces including large plane formations on a broad front," German commentator Col. Ernst von Hammer asserted.

Early in August, the Germans reported a Russian crossing of the Narew, along whose banks the Germans defeated armies of the Czar in the last war and forced a Russian withdrawal from Warsaw.

The push in the Narew sector threatens invasion or outflanking of East Prussia and also menaces Warsaw from the north. The Russian offensive started Sunday. Moscow reported 100 towns captured in the sector yesterday.

The Germans said the Russians had brought up new tank and infantry divisions. The point of crossing was not specified.

Russians Storm Down Into Hungarian Plains

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Sept. 5 (AP)—Russian and Romanian troops stormed down the mountainous eastern watershed of the Hungarian plains today while Red army units in Poland drove an armored battering ram deep into the Warsaw-East Prussia defense belt.

Soviet successes in Transylvania along the historic invasion route to Hungary and southwest of Lomza between Warsaw and East Prussia's southern border were being exploited with new attacks against fierce resistance, front dispatches said.

Russian and Romanian divisions, officially operating in coordination for the first time, pushed forward against a combined German and Hungarian force. They were heading for the Mures river valley, which runs westward into Hungary.

TIRPITZ BOMBED AGAIN

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—British naval planes scored hits on the great 35,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz and damaged at least 16 other enemy vessels in a series of recent attacks on enemy shipping in northern waters, the admiralty announced tonight.

Radio in False Peace Report

Unconfirmed reports from the Brussels radio that Germany had capitulated, broadcast by Boston radio stations today, threw airwave listeners into a frenzy of momentary happiness.

Although the Boston broadcasts stressed the fact the report was unconfirmed and within a half-hour were on the air again with a full denial of the rumor, joy for a time was unrestrained and hysterical people came to believe that Germany still was in the war.

In its official denial of the report, according to the Associated Press, the Brussels radio declared the rumor was broadcast by an otherwise unidentified "foreign station."

First Boston broadcast of the report came over Station WBZ, which credited PA, radio subsidiary of the Associated Press, with the "unconfirmed" report by Radio Brussels, regained only Sunday from German hands, that the Nazis had surrendered.

Although the Boston station stressed the fact that the report was unconfirmed and probably untrue, listeners bombarded newspaper offices with telephone calls, demanding confirmation of what they had heard.

"No, that report is not true—too bad it isn't," was the only reply which harried city editors could give. Even then the callers refused to believe the denial, insisting the report had been broadcast on the radio.

Six minutes after its initial broadcast of the report, WBZ was on the air again at 8 a. m. with the same report, which Broadcaster W. W. Chapman labeled at that time as untrue.

At 8:30 a. m., WBZ broadcast another PA report which credited the Brussels radio with announcing a complete denial of the previous rumor.

"We regret to announce that Germany has not capitulated as was announced this morning wrongly. The war continues," WBZ's broadcaster said.

The Associated Press, which said no official listening station in Lon-

Baby Born to Socialite And Her Negro Husband

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Copyright, 1944, Boston Evening American

The former Mary Bradley (Polly) Dawes, a descendant of one of America's first families, and her Negro husband, Julian Denegal Steele, well-known Boston social worker, have an eight-pound baby girl, it was disclosed today.

The thriving youngster, named Emily Dawes Steele, has gained a pound since her birth at the exclusive Richardson House.

Wed six years ago amid nation-wide comment, the Steeles termed their marriage "an experiment in sociology" and frankly discussed their love, philosophy and future plans.

Julian Steele

Platinum blonde and now 37, the mother is a descendant of the Massachusetts and Illinois family that gave the nation former Vice-President Charles Gates Dawes.

Steele, Georgia-born and a graduate of Harvard, now is a director at the Armstrong Hemenway Foundation, an organization backed by a group of Boston socialites, where women are instructed in child care, interior decoration and household arts.

"After giving the question of children serious thought and consideration and getting the best advice obtainable we decided that we would have a child between the fourth and fifth year of our marriage," Mrs. Steele says. "Everything added up in favor of it.

"Family is a perfect baby," says our family physician, Dr. Daniel Abrahamson, obstetrician at Richardson House, an expert on babies and births.

"For that we are very happy.

Special plans for the bringing up the baby?

"Nothing more than the natural and normal method would have for the average daughter.

"We appreciate the public interest, we cannot avoid it, but we do not desire publicity.

"We wish to present ourselves in the light in which we view ourselves, that of two educated and responsable adults who have taken steps that they are cognizent of in all their implications and complications.

"Mutual love, in a good home where we will try to give her every advantage cultural, creative and religious to which she is entitled will be the foundation of her upbringing."

Later Emily will learn that her father resigned his lucrative post at the Robert Gould Shaw Settlement House and his mother her position in her professors as a teacher in a Providence Lutheran school when their marriage became publicly revealed.

Effect on Emily's future of inter-racial parentage in segregation or suffering?

"We have thought and talked of this. As a daughter her breeding and training will naturally fall more on me as a son would on his father. She will have an ideal home with two parents who love each other and adore her. There will be an example of the wholesomeness and happiness of a love that recognized no barriers and knew no obstacles.

Grove Fire Hero Finally Recovers

After almost two years in the hospital, Clifford E. Johnson, 23, Coast Guard hero of the Cocoanut Grove fire, was on his way home to Sumner, Mo., today with a medical discharge.

Johnson, who enlisted in May, 1942, suffered burns on more than 60 per cent of his body in rescuing eight persons in the night club disaster which took nearly 500 lives in the following Nov. 28.

Until the middle of last month he underwent treatment at City Hospital and at Brighton Marine Hospital.

Buried Treasure

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 5 (AP) — When the Paul McCrackens moved into a new home 12 years ago they noticed a rusty steel ring projecting slightly above the ground. They didn't pay any attention to it until their 12-year-old son, Jack, recently investigated.

They found three full drums, containing 110 gallons of gasoline.

Farm Life Goes On Amid Battle's Roar

By AUSTEN LAKE

ON THE ROAD TO PARIS (Delayed)—Tonight I am at the front lines with a famed U. S. infantry division. It is like coming home to old friends! For these are men with whom I lived briefly in England last spring, when invasion was only a cerebral wrinkle in the brain of the Allied staff. Some of the original New Englanders are not here now. Still there are many familiar faces.

Indeed I had barely reached the C-P (command post) when I ran into Howard F. Casey of 305 Pond st., Jamaica Plain, the old Princeton center who now wears a major's oak leaves. He was captain when I knew him last, and I was able to tell him how, in the interval, I had chatted with his dad, Edward J., a Boston lawyer.

It is a curious spot where I write this—a field tent over which four 155 howitzer shells fizz like the open spigots of a soda fountain on their way to the German lines, which lie a few kilometers down a pretty valley, or about as far as a subway ride from Park st. to Massachusetts station.

NAZIS OVERHEAD

During daylight I could locate their approximate positions by the mushroom bursts of our shells, for in this fluid war there is no tell-tale streak of earth-banked barbed wire lines.

There is a red harvest moon overhead, which soaks the countryside in soft, diffused light. A covey of German bombers is droning above us with the peculiar triple-throb that indicates enemy motors, mum-mum-mum . . . mum-mum-mum. This is their usual nightly visitation, for German planes rarely risk the dangers of daylight and our swarms of fighters.

From the fields around, our gunners are sending up a cone of fire in which the tracer bullets cut orange paths in the sky and the ack-ack shrapnel makes twinkling pinpoints of light. Though it is not recommended as an aid to health, some of our men are outside gazing toward the apex of fire, to see what they can see, which is nothing much.

But it is not this which makes this spot curious. It is the Noah's ark of animals which run at random 'round the farmyard where our C-P is located rooting pigs, bleating sheep, a bandy-legged colt, goats and even a hive of honey bees.

A French family still lives in a wing of the stone farmhouse, continuing its bucolic life, haying, threshing and churning, imperturbable toward the menagerie of beasts and the bustle of officers, men, motorcycles and jeeps.

A bearded billy goat is standing in the mouth of his tent as I write, fixing me with belligerent eye. A pig sty is just 20 feet away, tenanted by a papa and mamma and brood of porkers. Their smell is no worse than the blend of surrounding odors.

This afternoon I visited the concealed artillery positions, where short-snouted guns are set in shallow holes and covered with tricky camouflage. I passed the blackened skeleton of a German Mark IV tank bogged down in a quagmire, where several GIs were cutting logs for the sake of their succulent legs, or taking stand-up baths in knee-deep stream.

It was hard to associate this domestic scene with the mutiled explosions our yorker, as I made the rounds with a young ROTC graduate (Yale '43) Capt. Robert H. Ingram of Somerville, N. H.

How Germans Murder Towns

By WES GALLAGHER

MARTINCOURT, France, Sept. 4 (delayed)—(AP)—Have you ever seen a town murdered? This one was a few hours ago by German soldiers.

Every house is a smoking shell. Dogs, cows, pigs and even chickens lie slaughtered in the street. Under an apple tree, beside an overturned basket of apples he had been picking lies the bullet-torn body of a 72-year-old grandfather, half-covered by a thermite grenade.

In a grenade-torn church is the body of a young man. He had been in bed with a broken leg when German soldiers burst into the house, shot him in the head.

There are two other bodies and but for a woman's pleadings there might have been more.

In four and a half years on war fronts I had always viewed stories of Germans wiping out a town or village with suspicion, so when I received a report at headquarters that a reconnaissance patrol had found Martincourt wiped out I took the opportunity to see for myself.

It was arranged by the area commander that Earl Mazo, Greenville, S. C., of Stars and Stripes, and I go in with an armed escort bringing up rations.

When we arrived a dazed old woman was poking through burning rubble. A mustached, typical French peasant in a blue shirt and faded corduroy pants was the only other civilian visible. His eyes were red from weeping. The Germans had shot his son.

From them and Lt. Philip Wasner, of Cincinnati, whose reconnaissance company first entered the town, we pieced together the story.

Two days ago the FFI ambushed a German staff car nearby, whereupon members of a German panzer grenadier division surrounded the village, shooting at anything in sight. Everything alive on the streets was killed.

That's how the 72-year-old grandfather died.

The house caught fire. When a young man fled with clothes aflame he was shot down. An older man was shot as he tried to run to the woods.

The Germans searched house by house, seizing every man they found. When they came to the one in bed with a broken leg they shot him and went on.

The prisoners were loaded on trucks, taken outside the village and lined up before machine guns. Most of the women and children had fled terror-stricken into the woods, but the wife of one man followed the Germans.

She fell on her knees in front of the officer in charge of the execution and pleaded for the men's lives. Her pleas were successful. The officer ordered the execution cancelled but the soldiers fell upon the helpless men and beat them with fists and rifle butts.

Other German soldiers went through the town, looting and setting every house afire.

"Next was the village of Mamec just like this one but more people have been killed," Wagner said. "We passed through there last night but did not stay."

"This is not the first time this German outfit burned a village and shot many men," added Lt. Robert Walker, Indianapolis. "We have been following this panzer outfit and they burned several villages."

Later came reports the village of Robert Espange had been burned and 52 men killed and Beury had been burned. Both villages are between Vitry and St. Mihiel.

"With all the savagery of the last war we had nothing like this," declared Maj. Edmond Ball, Muncie, Ind.

Ball fought with the 42d Division over this battleground in the last war, but now is with Civil Affairs.

GIs who have been marching through the burning towns are in a grim fighting mood.

"I thought I would never be able to hate the Germans, but after seeing what they have done I am getting to hate them more every day," said Sgt. Robert Matteson, St. Paul.

Londoners Point to Charles Basin as Thames Model

Boston's Charles River would serve as a model for a face-lifting job on London's Thames after the war, if a group of eminent London engineers have their way, the Daily Mail's latest transatlantic edition reports.

Contrast between the two rivers is "painful to Londoners, the newspaper states. It adds:

"There are no riverside restaurants on the Thames, no rowing boats for swimmers, no fishermen; it is a great deserted highway that does nothing to relieve the congestion of the streets.

"The Thames is too swift for safe boating, to filthy for bathing, to drab along its south bank to be worthy of an Empire.

"All this, say exponents of the change would be remedied if we made the Thames tideless. We might also have a revival of the sport and pageantry for which the Thames was famous in the days of our forefathers."

Boston achieved its tideless Charles by building the dam at Craigie bridge, thereby making the basin the aquatic recreation spot it is today.

Maquis Led Writer Through Nazi Army

By GRAHAM HOVEY

RENNES, France, Sept. 5 (INS)—Guided by the fabulous French Maquis, five companions and I have skirted the lines of the U. S. 7th Army drive through the heart of France and have arrived in Rennes after a thrilling zig-zag journey through the no man's land separating our northern and southern armies.

We made our exciting trip by jeep through more than 450 miles from Montpellier in the extreme south of France to Rennes in central Brittany.

Actually, our first contact with the U. S. forces in northern France came at 11:30 Sunday night when the six of us flagged an American ambulance near blacked - out Nantes and shook hands with Pvt. Vance Cummings of Victorville, Cal., and Pvt. William Hilliard of Ashland, Ky.

Our driver, Pvt. Douglas Hoxey, of Sussex, N. J., drove us 150 miles beyond the American front lines in 10 days, a journey which first gave us an indication of the tremendous scope and work accomplished by the Maquis and the French Forces of the Interior.

Guiding us along the right roads in what constituted a left-end sweep around mountains, the Maquis filtered us through German columns trying to escape along the lateral roads eastward toward Germany.

The route charted for us was so complete I didn't see a single German and never heard a shot fired in combat throughout the journey.

Although we crossed the major escape corridors which the Nazis are trying to use from western France, the trip was a succession of unbelievable receptions by overjoyed French people rather than a game of hide and seek with the harried Boche.

Cut 5 Life Terms To 8-20 Years

Albert J. Murray, 23, was sentenced today by Judge Joseph E. Harley in Suffolk superior court to 8 to 20 years in State Prison instead of five life terms he had been given before.

Today's cutdown sentence came as a result of his testimony last October against three alleged receivers of loot Murray stole. The accused receivers were acquitted but Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward M. Sullivan said the state wished to keep its bargain with Murray.

Among the crimes Murray admitted were the thefts of a $7000 tray of diamonds from the Homer Jewelry store, and of a $750 fur coat from R. H. Stearns store, both by smashing windows.

Albert Burrows, 23 of Burrill st., Roxbury aided Murray in some crimes was given 5 to 15 years.

U. S. Eye on Maine Vote

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (INS)—Political observers had their sights focused today on Maine's elections Monday for straws that might be helpful in forecasting the result of the presidential race come November.

Maine voters go to the polls to elect a governor, three members of the National House of Representatives and many state and county officials. Like the other 47 states, Maine does not choose its presidential electors until Nov. 7.

Should the Democrats make an impressive showing it will be joyously received by campaigners for a fourth term for President Roosevelt. And by the same token a thumping Republican victory will be hailed by the backers of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency.

All of the Republican House members—Reps. Robert Hale in the First Congressional District which embraces Portland; Margaret Chase Smith in the Second District, and Frank Fellows in the Third District—have been renominated.

In the First District where huge shipyards are situated the CIO Political Action Committee indorsed Andrew A. Pettis for the Republican and Democratic party nominations. Hale won the Republican nomination by an 8-to-1 margin over Pettis and the latter won the Democratic nomination.

The Republican nominee for Governor is Horace A. Hildreth, a Portland lawyer who has been president of the State Senate. Fred G. Sullivan of Waterville is the Democratic nominee for governor. Hildreth is expected to be elected and the size of his majority will be eagerly scanned by national politicos.

More Quakes Seen In Making for N. E.

It was a fair-to-middling eathquake while it lasted, but New England may experience a severer one some day, Dr. L. Don Leet, Harvard seismologist, said this afternoon.

Commenting on the tremors that shook the East early this morning after originating apparently near Cornwall, Ont., Leet said:

"It may be a question whether this would be caled a quake of major intensity, but if the epicenter had been near a city the size of Boston it would hav constituted a real hazard.

"We are entering a cycle of earthquake activity in New England," the Harvard scientist added, "but we cannot predict the climax. We know we are going to have earthquakes, just as we know we shall have weather changes, but we can't predict just when."

The damage in Cornwall, a St. Lawrence river city, was estimated by Mayor Aaron Horowitz at between $500,000 and $750,000. Two school buildings were rendered unsafe for occupancy.

Leet emphasized he did not want to be an "alarmist" but suggested it would be only good judgment for municipal officials to make plans for coping with danger which might arise from an earthquake. Fire would present a major hazard in the event of a winter quake, he observed.

The cycle of earthquake activity here indicates the possibility of severe tremors, Leet stated.

Dr. Leet said he had been in touch with Weston and Fordham seismologists, but he and they were awaiting more detailed reports from Canadian and northern New York colleagues.

The Rev. Joseph Lynch, Fordham seismologist, said: "It was the 'creaking stair' kind of quake, caused by the earth's surface contracting like timbers in an old house."

The Rev. Clarence Blais, acting seismologist at Weston College, said the tremors were first recorded there at 12:39:40 a. m. They were so severe the seismograph was out of commission for 45 minutes.

The tremors may have been 20 miles under earth's surface, in the opinion of Dr. Leet.

Newspaper offices throughout the East were deluged with telephone inquiries by thousands of persons who had been frightened out of their sleep.

Ex-Hub Cop Held In Wife-Burning

Joseph A. Tighe, former Boston policeman, today was arraigned before Judge Samuel Eisenstadt on a charge of assault with intent to murder his wife.

Tighe was arrested on a warrant obtained after an all-night grilling. His bail was set at $20,000 for a hearing on Sept. 12.

Joseph A. Tighe

Mrs. Catherine Tighe, the 32-year-old victim, was found with her hair and clothing ablaze in the couple's home on Mountfort st., Back Bay, Friday night. In critical condition at City Hospital, she is still unable to tell what happened.

Tighe joined the police department as a patrolman in October, 1930, and resigned in March, 1936. He was previously a chauffeur.

Barbara Hutton in Suit Charges Count Unfit Dad

Seeking complete custody of her 8-year-old son, Lance, now living in a Boston hotel with his father, Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton Grant filed suit in Wilmington, Del., Federal Court today charging her former husband, Kurt Haugwitz Reventlow, with being an unfit parent and seeking to halt payment of a trust fund income to him.

The Delaware suit does not go into detail on the charges he is an unfit parent but a similar action filed last July in California asserted he was trying to bring up the boy as a Danish count rather than an American and that he had never provided him with a proper home but housed him in hotels.

The suit asked the court to halt payment to the former Danish count of the income from a $1,500,000 trust fund she established for him in 1938 when they were divorced.

Today's action charged Reventlow violated the 1938 agreement giving him benefit of the trust fund for his maintenance. He should have returned Lance to his mother's custody on June 30, 1944, Mrs. Grant charged, but instead took the boy to Canada.

"In 1938," Samuel H. Kaufman, of the law firm of Kaufman & Cronan, said: "Mrs. Grant contributed 300,000 pounds sterling (then about $1,500,000), to the creation of this fund for the maintenance of Reventlow with the condition that the principal should be paid to her son, Lance, upon his father's death. Mrs. Grant took this step in consideration of Reventlow's promise he would refrain from needless litigation about the child's custody and with the understanding the parents would share equally in their son's custody."

Reventlow's refusal to return Lance to his mother in June was a "wilful violation of his agreement, and Reventlow thus forfeits his right to any income from the trust," Kaufman added.

Vet Saved by Plasma Gives Pint of Blood

PFC Frederick M. Flint, 23, of Anna st., Worcester, whose life was saved by blood plasma on a battlefield in France, July 10, today gave the Red Cross a pint which will be in France 24 hours hence.

Flint and other Boston donors contributed to a supply of blood which is to be flown to New York at 9:55 tonight, then transferred to an Army transport plane which will speed it to France.

It will be the first supply of whole blood, as contrasted with plasma, to be carried by plane from this city to men on a fighting front.

PFC Flint had two requests to make.

One was:

"Tell everybody blood is needed. There have been cases where the supply in France was so low the Army had to call for volunteers from the ranks."

Request No. 2 was of another nature. He wanted the autograph of the nurse who attended him at the blood donor center, 485 Boylston st., Mrs. Margaret Carter of Mountford st., Back Bay. On his arm was a cast, necessitated by machine-gun bullets. Mrs. Carter, whose husband is a naval officer, wrote her name on it.

Flint was wounded at St. Lo. Less than half a minute after machine-gun bullets felled him he had medical aid. He was given a hypodermic on the spot. Five minutes later he was given the plasma that saved his life.

Another donor today was Mrs. Ellis Cronin, 15, Broadway, Chelsea, who has two sons and three daughters in the armed forces. One of her sons is in a German prison camp.

Admits Beating Brookline Girl

While his victim remained in critical condition at Lynn Hospital, John J. McKenzie, 23, of Garland st., Everett, today pleaded guilty in Lynn court to a charge of assault and battery on Miss Shirley Wildman, 28, of Mason ter., Brookline.

Judge Ralph W. Reeve ordered McKenzie, a milkman, held in bonds of $2000 for hearing Sept. 21 after police said Miss Wildman was unable to appear in court.

She suffered possible fractures of the skull and ribs in an assault in a wooded section of Newburyport turnpike, Saugus, Saturday.

She was found unconscious in a clump of bushes after Saugus police responded to a telephone call from McKenzie. Police said he told them a "wildman" had attacked Miss Wildman and himself for no apparent reason.

McKenzie, questioned at headquarters later, gave several contradictory versions of the attack, police said. Then he was charged with the assault.

SLAIN MARINES' ESTATE

Thomas V. Prunty of Calumet st., Roxbury, today was appointed by Suffolk Probate Judge John V. Mahoney to administer the estate of his brother, John F. Prunty, marine robbed and slain in the Fenway Aug. 12.

Quakes Owlish

Dr. L. Don Leet, Harvard seismologist, is credited with knowing a lot about earthquakes but one thing baffles him.

"Why do they always have to happen at night?" the sleepless scientist asked today.

"Or do they?" he demanded. "Maybe it just seems that way. At least they usually happen when I am having a fine, comfortable sleep. I think I will discuss this with other seismologists at the earliest opportunity."

VET BACK ON JOB—After serving 23 months in the South Pacific area, sailor Charles Kenneth Appleton of Boston has reported to Key West for a return to active duty, after spending a 26-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Helen A. Coppinger, of Sequatchie, Tenn.

Peace Rumor

don had heard the capitulation broadcast, announced that the Brussels radio had broadcast in Flemish:

"We are obliged to tell you to our deep regret that the rumor, according to which Germany was alleged to have capitulated, and which was this morning broadcast by a foreign station, has not been confirmed. The fight goes on."

From Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters, too, came a quick announcement that the report was "not true."

The peace rumor circulated swiftly in London and prompted denials at once from the city's newspapers. One correspondent wrote:

"The first of the German capitulation stories was circulated this morning. It is not true. It is likely to be followed during the next few days and weeks by many similar, and equally inaccurate, rumors."

WBZ, which interrupted into a regular program at 7:54 a. m. to announce the "unconfirmed" report of German surrender, was the only Boston station to announce on its NBC system that the Brussels radio had broadcast the rumor.

WHDH, which has the Blue network, broadcast the denial in an 8 a. m. news commentator's program and came on again at 8:26 a. m. with the Associated Press denial of the rumor.

The Yankee Network, Station WNAC, also broadcast the denial at 9 a. m., while WEEI and WMEX also reported the complete denial at that hour.

'Daring Plan,' Hitler's Latest

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (INS)—The Berlin radio indicated today Hitler may be on the western front and said a "daring plan" was being formulated for defense of the Reich.

The official German communique was broadcast with the dateline "From the Fuehrer's Headquarters on the Western Front," while in respect to the defense plan Berlin said the Nazis were falling back in order to gain time for total mobilization of the home front.

"When total mobilization of Germany has been effected," the announcer said, "Germany's daring defense plan will be put into effect."

NBC heard the broadcast.

Labor Day Death Toll Soars to 245

By the Associated Press

Fatalities throughout the nation for the Labor Day holiday weekend reached 245 today, more than half being caused by traffic accidents, an Associated Press survey showed.

The death toll for the 1943 Labor Day period was 205 persons from traffic accidents, drownings and miscellaneous causes. In 1942 about 350 died and in 1941 more than 600.

Of this year's total, 137 were due to traffic accidents, 54 each from drownings and miscellaneous causes.

Lodge Awarded Bronze Star

Former Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Beverly, now a major in the U. S. Army, has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in direct support of combat operations in Italy, his friends disclosed today.

Lodge was with the 4th Army Corps during its pursuit of the Germans north of Rome.

The citation accompanying the award reads:

"On numerous occasions, Lodge, without regard for his personal safety, executed missions of specified nature which required his exposure to enemy fire and traversing of mined roads and areas.

"He rendered infinite service in submission of complete detailed and accurate reports of conditions along the front lines and contributed greatly to the success of combat operations directed by corps headquarters."

Tokyo Admits Jap Oil Famine

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Tokyo broadcasts today indicated the Japanese air and naval forces were literally "starving" for gasoline and oil. Two big synthetic oil mergers were announced to meet "a drying need." Shipping losses have largely nullified capture of rich oily sources in the Dutch Indies.

Other Tokyo radio reports said Allied bombardments of the Northern Celebes, along the fringe of Japan's oil supply line and on the approaches to the Philippines, had been almost continuous since Saturday.

Adm. Ryozo Nakamura was quoted in Axis broadcasts as saying the Jap fleet wouldn't fight unless it had a chance of winning. This means the fleet won't risk battle if it can help it, until it is sure of strong support from land-based planes.

Thirty Jap ships and 167 planes were wrecked in a blazing chain of American sea and air bombardments, reported yesterday and today, extending over the 4500-mile length of the Mikado's empire.

The attacks covered one of the most devastating five-day periods of the war—from Wednesday to Sunday. Earlier air actions ran Japan's losses to 158 planes knocked out and 55 ships sunk or badly damaged. Sixty-eight barges, sampans, and other small craft were also crippled.

The heaviest blow was struck by powerful carrier and naval forces within 650 miles of Japan in a three-day bombardment of the Bonin and Volcano Islands. Bombs, rockets and shellfire knocked out a dozen Jap ships and 85 planes. Land-based Liberators carried the bombardment into four consecutive days.

A dozen more ships were destroyed or damaged in the southern Philippines. A single Catalina flying boat, attacking an eight-ship convoy in Davao gulf, definitely sank three and probably three others.

A record 140-ton raid on the Celebes, south of the Philippines, wiped out between 18 and 22 Jap planes, three sizable ships and three coastal craft.

A fast naval force shelled and bombed Wake island Sunday. Simultaneous use of two task forces indicates the power of the fleet operating in the Pacific.

Land-based planes were opposed only by antiaircraft guns in raids on Paramushiro, north of Japan; Palau, Halmahera, Talaud and other islands protecting the Philippines; Truk and Ponape in the Carolines and other Jap islands in the Marshalls, Marianas and Dutch East Indies.

Six U. S. planes were reported missing in all.

Canned Tomatoes Held at 1943 Level

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Average retail price for canned tomatoes from the 1944 crop will be the same as in 1943, the OPA said in announcing processors' ceiling prices effective Sept. 5.

OPA pointed out that a subsidy is being paid on canned tomatoes this year to hold prices to 1943 levels for civilians. However, increases or decreases in retail prices for specific items may occur in some areas, OPA explained.

McCarran in Hot Race for Senate

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 5 (AP)—Nevada's two-term Senator, P. A. (Pat) McCarran, faced a test of his Senate record in national and international affairs today as the state's electorate balloted on his bid for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

McCarran's opponent, Lt. Gov. Vail Pittman, brother of the late Senator Key Pittman, has campaigned vigorously on a "support President Roosevelt" platform while attacking McCarran as "isolationist" and anti-Roosevelt.

The CIO political Action Committee si a facter in the battle, with McCarran's camp claiming the PAC is supporting Pittman.

Soldiers Want College Career

(Mr. Finnegan's dispatches have been delayed and many of those about whom he wrote from England may be in the thick of the battle of France.)

By HUCK FINNEGAN

SOUTHERN ENGLAND—The GI Bill of Rights, which assures soldiers under 25 a college education at Uncle Sam's expense, carries great appeal to New England youngsters who came out of college undergraduate ranks into the Army, or who didn't have the wherewithal to enroll in college in pre-war days.

Already planning a post-war collegiate course are boys like T-5 Richard Watson, 20, of 85 Park st., Attleboro; PFC Robert M. Comeau, 19, of 5 Essex pl., Lynn; PFC Walter Greaney, 22, of 31 Levant st., Dorchester; Pvt. Paul Casey, 19, of 87 Carey ave., Milton; PFC Ernest W. Prussman, 22, of 121 Parsons st., Brighton; T-5 Edward J. Barnes, 23, of 114 Lower Newton st., St. Albans, Vt.; Pvt. Richard Arsenault, 21, of 27 Dorothy st., Portland, Me., and T-4 John W. Nye, 24, of 23 Pearl st., Middleboro.

Watson is a clean-cut chap who has gone from 5-7 to 5-9½, and from 122 pounds to 146 since he graduated from Attleboro High in '42.

PFC Ernest W. Prussman, Brighton — Pvt. Richard Arsenault, Portland, Me. — T-5 Edward J. Barnes, St. Albans, Vt. — PFC Robert M. Comeau, Lynn

Greaney from Meeting House Hill, graduated from B. C. High in '39, from Boston College in '43.

Pvt. Paul Casey (J. J. Casey's truckst of 87 Carey ave., Milton graduated from B. C. High in '42

Prussman graduated from Brighton High in '41.

Barnes, a lab technician in the medics, graduated from St. John's Prep in Brooklyn, from Fordham Univ. in '42

Arsenault a nice-looking lad of 200 pounds, played guard for Deering High's football team, graduated in '40

Nye attended Curtis Radio and Television Institute on Commonwealth ave., did radio work for the government for a year is anxious to make it his life's work.

"Perhaps I can go to school and work at the same time," said the pleasant, bespectacled youngster, a radio repairman. A home town pal, Lt. Robert Crozier, was killed in North Africa while doing radio work. Nye's mother, Mrs. Louise B., is widowed

Will these lads be able to settle down to routine classroom study after they see the excitement in France? My guess is "Yes"

Buddies Gift Drive Wins Wide Support

Already doing more than her share in the war effort, an elderly Boston woman has enrolled in the Christmas Gifts to Buddies Overseas campaign, to bring to some lonely soldier or sailor on Christmas Day a token of faith and courage.

From Miss Helen J. Revaleon of Hanson st, comes this inspiring letter:

"I am very glad of the opportunity to have a part in doing something in the Christmas Gifts campaign. I am a member of the Old South Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. I am past 60, born in Boston, and have lived in Boston always. I also work in a defense plant nearby."

Another reader, out of her own loss and heartbreak, asks for the name of a Marine lieutenant whose Christmas she may make happier with an overseas package. Her own Marine lieutenant, she adds, was killed in action a year ago.

The Christmas Gift drive, sponsored by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, is further endorsed by five New England governors. Gov. Saltonstall since the beginning of the campaign has been an active and enthusiastic member of the honorary committee.

Four other New England governors have accepted appointments to the committee. They are Gov. Robert O. Blood of New Hampshire, Gov. William H. Wills of Vermont, Gov. Sumner Sewall of Maine and Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island.

Gov. Wills has wired:

"I can assure you that I shall be very glad to be included in the co-operative Christmas Gift plan which you are working out. I feel very strongly as you do about this matter and if there is anything I can do to help accomplish the purpose you may rest assured that I shall be glad to do it."

Endorsement of the Christmas Gift campaign came also from two distinguished military leaders in the Boston area, Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, commanding general, First Service Command, and Commodore W. N. Derby, District Coast Guard officer USCG.

If you wish to enroll in this campaign and bring Christmas happiness to one of the millions of our overseas boys, fill out and mail the accompanying coupon. This is the time to prepare your Christmas package for mailing, because all holiday packages destined for overseas, for both Army and Navy, must be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. Watch these columns for further information of mailing, packing and choosing the gifts most likely to bring Yuletide joy to the boys across and on the high seas.

Steele

her marriage a union of two opposite racial strains—thank God I am civilized enough to be color blind!

"I will infuse her with the love of the skin of a fellow being that all nations and races are part of the family of God, equally important to Him and mutually valuable to each other. She will be taught to love all God's creatures.

"She will be instilled with the idea that racial superiority is also rot. I feel neither superior to Colonials because I was born in Connecticut people. The same is true of the Negro. I will be mark of social inferiority as long as others of different color are concerned, ignorant and prejudiced. In that rating I would be a second inferior in Africa or India.

"She will live with my love for her father, which has grown daily during the 12 years of association with him.

"The qualities of superb and selfless manhood that attracted me, awakened my love and sustained it will arouse love in every man in her.

"I do not believe she will suffer. But any suffering or sacrifice she makes I have known more will but be too great if she learns love and tolerance and has in her heart will never harbor hate for her mind be possessed by prejudice."

The Steeles first met about 12 years ago at Breezy Meadows Metcalf, Mass., nursery school of the Robert Gould Shaw Settlement House in the South End, where Steele was director. Miss Dawes was finishing her education, after graduation from Boston University, at the exclusive Belmont School, Nashville, Tenn. She has two college degrees, bachelor of science and bachelor of sociology.

When she became associated with Steele her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Dawes of Hudson, tried to "break it up" by sending her to Europe for musical studies.

She took highly specialized courses at a Boston nursery school and was described by debutante companions as "an educational expert, extremely brilliant and social minded."

She has the modulated voice of a gentlewoman, wears conservative but expensive tailored clothes, is small in stature with blonde and grey mixed hair.

Steele, dark brown hued, is considered brilliant in social service circles. His parents Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Steele of Roxbury, were "quite surprised" at his marital plans but said they would not interfere as it was his private affair. He graduated from Harvard cum laude and N. Y. Social Service School.

No hint as to whether the parents of each had changed their attitude could be gleaned.

"Happiness" Surely they have been happy. Do it again? Of course they would.

Overseas Yule Cards Have Oct. 15 Deadline

Christmas greeting cards destined for servicemen overseas should be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly of Boston announced today.

Under War Department mailing regulations, the cards must be sent in sealed envelopes at first-class postage rates, and may have no writing as the sender cares to add. If cards are enclosed in open gift boxes, however, no postage is necessary, the signature is permitted, Connelly warned.

League Plan Holds Danger to America

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

A high ranking staff officer who had been in North Africa, France, Italy, England and India, home on leave, remarked to me: "When the boys come home don't be surprised if this country is swept by a wave of what is called 'isolationism' such as it never before has experienced."

The trend of things in Dumbarton Oaks and of the forces at work there is strongly in the direction of internationalizing the world, first as regards maintenance of peace by force and guaranteeing the "haves" the territorial possessions they hold regardless whether they are making use of it to the general benefit of the world or not.

That internationalism in the world security conference is and will doubtless remain in the hands of a very small number of the most powerful countries. It is something like a cartel of the big fellows.

In some respects it is the Moscow Comintern in an entirely new guise of the strong and powerful, not of the proletarial workers.

The possibility of a League of Nations council—in effect a super-world government—making war to preserve peace so far has envisaged only military aggression such as an attack on the frontiers of a country.

There are forms of aggression other than military. For instance, does incitement by one member of President Roosevelt's new league to revolution against the government of another country constitute non-military aggression?

A few days ago the newspapers carried a dispatch quoting the Moscow radio in an appeal to the Spanish people to overthrow the Franco government. The Moscow radio is, as all other things in Russia, owned and operated by the Soviet government.

The appeal or incitement to the Spanish people to revolt against their government therefore had official Soviet sanction.

KENWOOD, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP) — Col. Theodore Hobart Skinner, 71, widely known architect, is dead here. He designed buildings for several colleges.

Civilians to Get Knitwear Goods

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP) — The War Production Board today announced its fourth special program for production of basic cotton knitwear garments, one of the most acute civilian shortage problems.

The new order calls for fourth quarter production of infants' hose, sleepers, gowns, shirts, wrappers, baby bands, pants, women's vests, pants, boys' and girls' socks, children's waist suits and men's work socks within the same price lines of the low-cost items made during the third quarter of 1942.

FRANK GOODWIN BETTER

FAIRHAVEN, Sept. 5 — Frank A. Goodwin, former motor vehicle registrar and Republican candidate for State Auditor, today was reported recuperating from blood poisoning in his leg.

A Foot of Babies... All Eyes on Prizes

Ambition Alley—With everyone quite certain of being prize winning stuff, these youngsters were more than a problem to judges, who were deliberating on which was the most talented child there . . . as they sat waiting . . . at the Adams School playground in East Boston. They're from the Jeffries Point section.

Yank Nurses Follow Victory in France

Red Cross

Farm Life—Peggy Dykeman, 11, of West st., Stoughton, tries to break the icy coldness of her pet calf, Ronnie, who still is playing hard to get. The girl with two brothers and a sister are running their dad's 39-acre farm.

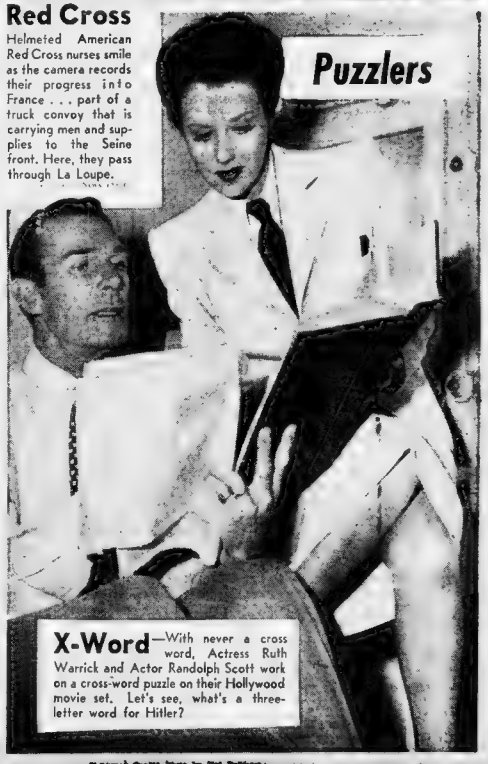
Rocketeer

B-25 medium bomber takes off from Wright Field, O., with a wing rocket-assist during tests at the headquarters of the Army Air Forces materiel command. The rocket-assist idea has been tested since 1940, but it is not yet being used tactically.

Gas Grads

Classes end for girls of the Boston Chemical Warfare Procurement District at Northeastern University . . . with the completion of a 10-week course. Pictured are Marie Mottla, Cambridge, and Constance Sampiere, Wakefield, in front, and Mrs. Loretta Martin and Mary Donth, New Bedford; Alice Muller, Fawn Grove, Pa.; Ruth Brackett, Boston, and Viola Hensel, Waltham.

Puzzlers



X-Word—With never a cross word, Actress Ruth Warrick and Actor Randolph Scott work on a cross-word puzzle on their Hollywood movie set. Let's see, what's a three-letter word for Hitler?

A Well-Done Job

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made in Washington that the Aircraft Production Board is to be dissolved because it has no more work to do.

The board was created about two years ago to break a bottleneck in airplane production which was impeding the equipment of our armed forces and the forces of our Allies, and was delaying the progress of our two wars—which was even, in fact, inviting the prospect of defeat.

It was a case of industrialists being called upon by the Government to solve a vital industrial war problem which theorists, or politicians, or bureaucrats could never hope to solve.

Of course the industrialists responded, and now their task is completed—so successfully that AMERICAN FIGHTING PLANES ARE BEING PRODUCED AT THE RATE OF 100,000 A YEAR.

This is the second instance in which, in two of the most critical aspects of mechanized warfare, INDUSTRIAL ABILITY has given America the indispensable materials for victory.

There was the problem of rubber that arose suddenly when Japan had conquered Malaysia and the East Indies, depriving us of our only source of supply.

That problem was also solved by business men. First Mr. Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board in World War I, was called in.

In a short time he presented an authoritative program FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A COMPLETE NEW INDUSTRY—the synthesization of rubber from alcohol—which would be capable within a year of providing more than three-fourths of a million tons annually.

Even the factories had to be constructed.

This unprecedented operation was entrusted to Mr. William M. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific. Mr. Jeffers encountered obstinacy and opposition in Washington, and bowled it over.

Somewhat ahead of schedule, he could report that the synthetic rubber program was assured, and he resigned to return to his own field.

His railroad, like all the railroads of the nation, was then performing prodigious service in war transportation with inadequate equipment: and Mr. Jeffers wanted to get his line in readiness for even greater burdens which he foresaw the Pacific war would bring on.

Mr. Jeffers was succeeded as rubber director by Col. Bradley Dewey: and Colonel Dewey not long ago reported that his services were no longer required.

In less than two years America had been made the world's greatest source of rubber.

A Worth While Campaign

THE United States Army announces that it has lost a total of 1,279,000 men, chiefly through discharges, from the start of the war.

Official figures show that 967,000 men, including 17,000 officers and 950,000 enlisted men, received honorable discharges.

Up to June 30, total deaths were 74,000, representing both conflict and non-conflict casualties.

As we studied these statistics we recalled with a glow of pride the long and often discouraging battles which we, the other Hearst newspapers and the American Legion fought to have the G. I. Bill of Rights passed by Congress.

Already a very large number of the 967,000 honorably discharged men have enjoyed some of the G. I. Bill's benefits and their happiness and security will be enhanced increasingly by the legislation in the future.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Mr. Homer Joseph Dodge, the well-known bon vivant and raconteur—he once told a story that three strangers stopped to listen to—came in the other day brandishing a document.

On closer inspection it turned out to be a new directive—No. L-104—of the War Production Board.

It was obvious that Mr. Dodge was deeply concerned. He slapped the paper on my desk and demanded:

"How many bobby pins, more than two inches long, does it take to make a battleship?"

It occurs to me—I cannot imagine why—that you may feel Mr. Dodge's query bordered on the unusual. If such be the case I can only repy that you do not know Mr. Dodge. He can think up questions twice as disconcerting when he puts his mind to it.

The Dodge-borne order from WPB directed that no manufacturer shall make hairpins or bobby pins of any metal other than carbon steel; and that no pin be more than two inches long.

"Goodness knows," said Mr. Dodge, "that I do not want to interfere with the war effort. But I feel the WPB is carrying this thing too far!"

I told Mr. Dodge I could sympathize with him because his hair is long and quite unruly.

"I suppose," I said, "that a two-inch bobby pin is too short for you? If you went to see Donald Nelson he might grant you an exception."

Mr. Dodge snorted so violently that three pigeons fell off the ledge outside my window.

"I am not talking about myself!" he howled. "And, furthermore, I have no intention of chasing Mr. Nelson to China just to beef about bobby pins.

Mr. Nelson, in case you ever come out of that trance you have been in for weeks, is not with WPB any more.

"He has been sent traveling by Mr. Roosevelt. The President is a firm believer that travel is good for people who get in his hair; in fact, I have heard, on fairly reliable authority, that Mr. Roosevelt wishes there were more out-of-the way places he could send more people to.

"He feels he may be giving China too much of his business.

"Anyway," continued Mr. Dodge, "the WPB is now headed by J. A. Krug—and it may be weeks before he gets called to the White House and given the fare to China."

I told him not to be cynical.

"I am not cynical," retorted Mr. Dodge. "I am just afraid that the Chinese may begin to complain that they are being infested by Administration castoffs and impose a head tax. This could become very costly in time."

"HOWEVER," said Mr. Dodge, "that is not what I came here to talk about. It occurs to me that the WPB is being too rigid in its restrictions on steel. I cannot help feeling that it will have to scrimp on an awful lot of bobby pins to save enough steel for a battleship.

"But," he added, "my concern is not directly with bobby pins. I just mentioned them because I happened to see this order. The real reason I am so upset is this:

"I took my watch to be repaired three months ago and I haven't been able to get it back yet. Today I went to my watchmaker and accused him point blank of dilly-dallying.

"He told me the delay was because he couldn't get a hairspring.

"The fellow seemed to sense that this was not going over too good with me because he added:

"'You know—the steel shortage!'"

IT GIVES ME great pleasure to report that Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle has at last gotten himself straightened out with the OPA.

The attorney general has not been doing anything downright criminal, such as black marketing. He merely lost his gasoline "A" book!

He lost this valuable book and sought to have it replaced. He was informed he would have to go before his local rationing board which sits at Western High school here.

When he got there he was told he could be granted a replacement almost immediately provided the loss was not due to negligence on his part.

"I do not feel I was negligent," he replied. "I left it in the glove department of my car!"

"Oh," he was told, "that is considered by OPA to be one of the most flagrant types of negligence. Leaving a ration book in the glove compartment is strictly against the rules. More than half the books lost are due to that very form of negligence."

The attorney general pleaded he needed his "A" card badly. He asked what penalty he would have to suffer.

"Those who lose their books by leaving them in the glove compartment are usually made to wait 30 days," he was informed.

Mr. Biddle moaned that he could not wait 30 days. Finally he was taken aside, confidentially, and told:

"In the case of a responsible citizen this penalty is sometimes waived. We will grant you a replacement immediately. The board is inclined to take the attitude that you are a person of good standing in the community."

Then wherefore should we sigh and whine,
With groundless jealousy repine,
With silly whims and fancies frantic,
Merely to make our love romantic!
—BYRON.

THIS is from "To a Lady." The lady Lord Byron probably had in mind was Lady Caroline Lamb. She was so jealous of Byron she bit a piece out of a drinking glass when he showed interest in another woman at a dinner party. At another party when Byron paid a little extra attention to a nearby blonde, Lady Caroline drew a knife and threatened to cut his heart out . . . Our Horses and Women Department has not yet found who was the first woman in the United States to wear slacks. However, Ann Galbraith claims she was the first woman to wear slacks in San Francisco. Attired in slacks, she appeared in Market st April 20, 1920, and created a sensation. She has a newspaper clipping which records this historic event. The headline on this reads: "Pants for Women! Girl Dons 'Em and Market St. Gasps."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Didn't Harry Williams write "It's a Long Way to Tipperary"? A. There has been some dispute about this. However, Jack Judge, an English actor, is generally credited with having written the song in 1908. It became popular as a marching song in World War 1 . . . Q. Ever been in my home town, Medford? A. Certainly. Played football against Tufts College there a couple of times. Q. Do you think it possible for a man to run a mile and within five minutes after doing 30 "pull-ups?". A. Believe it could be done, but would take a very good man in top condition to do it. Something would depend also on how fast he ran the mile.

RECORD: As to the oldest twins in the United States, certainly they must be Mrs. Mary Franzen and Mrs. Catherine Kirschloch of Jamaica, L. I., who recently celebrated their 90th birthday. These twins were born in Manhattan and brought up in Brooklyn.

BRIEFLY: A 47-year-old resident of Champaign, Ill., tells me he is going to take up handball. I advise against it. No man over 40 should play handball. If played correctly, it is too hard on the heart. I suggest this subscriber take up some nice game such as tennis, croquet, softball or ping pong.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5—"One touch of Venus" has been sold to the movies, according to word from New York. Mary Pickford has bought it through Victor Orsatti, who represents John Wildberg and Cheryl Crawford, the producers, as well as Ogden Nash and the other authors.

Every company in Hollywood has been bidding for it. Mary, who finally obtained the rights, goes East Tuesday to sign the papers.

It is possible that Mary Martin, who created the role on the New York stage, will be brought here for the part. If Mary isn't available then a top motion picture actress will get it. I know at least six young ladies who, after seeing the play in New York, wish they might do the movie version. This is just the beginning of things Mary Pickford has planned. Sam Coslow will work with Mary as co-producer. He has just obtained a cancellation of his contract from Paramount.

AN INTERESTING telephone conversation took place Saturday between Mike Todd and Harry Cohn of Columbia. Harry persuaded Mike to sell him "According to Plan," an unproduced play by Jack Sobel which Mike had planned to present on Broadway. The story is about German prisoners in American prison camps and how they are planning a third world war through the underground. It's a very dramatic story and will probably be more far-reaching on the screen than on the stage. At any rate, Harry paid $52,500 to buy it for Columbia.

IT WON'T MAKE my old friend Dick English mad if his "Ding Dong William" stories, bought by RKO, turn into a long popular series on the order of the "Hardys" or the "Aldriches." The nice thing about any series is that once the characters are established the original author continues to draw royalties as long as they are screened. Dick's stories originally appeared in magazine form and they are a combination of humor and drama. Marcy McGuire gets the girl's role in the first picture. Oh, yes, Dick has sold the radio rights, too. And it was auditioned the other eve with Eddie Quillan.

A STORY FROM PARIS that caused a lot of comment here was written by William Randolph Hearst, Junior, last week. Bill was right there when the Yanks marched in, and although there have been dozens of stories about the reception the Americans received there has been none similar to his story. He told about all the places every woman wants to hear about—Mme. Schiaparelli's, Paquin's, Dunhill's, Cartier's. We've all wondered if these places we visited in Paris were open. They are, and Bill gave a graphic description of the famous shops. The last time I was in Paris I saw Schiaparelli's collection and, the way it looks now, we'll all be able to see it again.

FRIENDS OF LOIS WILSON are going to be very pleased to hear her name is in electric lights on Broadway in "Chicken Every Sunday." Lois is a pioneer movie star and received her acting training on the screen. She has been on the stage about three years but this is the first time she's had a break in the big town. I saw her in "Junior Miss" and she was excellent. According to New York's critics she's even better in the Epstein play

I WAS INTERESTED in meeting redhaired Jane Farrar, who comes from my home town, Chicago. She's a vivacious young lady who is extremely ambitious to make a big name on the screen. She started very well in "Phantom of the Opera," with Susanna Foster. She had a lot of nice things to say about Susanna. Jane has just finished a couple of pictures at Universal and I have an idea, given the chance, you'll hear from her. It was a heartbreak for her when Ginger Rogers decided their temperaments clashed in "Tender Comrade." I suppose it really was because she resembles Ginger and it probably wouldn't do to have two girls in the same picture who look so much alike.

AL KAUFMAN, at one time a Paramount executive, brought over his nephew, Les Kaufman, to meet me. Les has taken over the publicity at Republic Studios. He was formerly a theater man in St. Louis and his father was Al's brother. Now about Al. He is returning to the film business after getting tired, he said, of being idle. He will produce two pictures for Sol Lesser. And he's now working on his first idea. He was with Paramount for many years in charge of the studio.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Marjorie Johnson, Nunnally's daughter, is marrying Gene Fowler, Jr., Gene's son, next Sunday in New York, where Gene, Jr. is stationed; The Joseph Browns have welcomed a baby. He is the hotel magnate who married the former Elizabeth Avery, movie actress; Alan Marshall is very, very much better, I am glad to report; The first call Shirley Temple gets in New York will be a jingle from Lon McCallister. He's fallen hard for our Shirley; come September 19 Paulette Goddard choochoos East to visit her husband, Capt. Buzz Meredith, in Indiana. She'll go on to her farm in New York; The Bert Lahrs entertained Madman Muntz, well-known character in Hollywood, at Slapsy Maxie's on the eve of their return East; Joy Page, Ann Warner's pretty daughter, and Paul Brinkman, Errol Flynn's double, are finding each other good company; the Al Halls spent Sunday on their farm and took out a party of Skeets and Pauline Gallagher's friends to see how alfalfa is growing and how big the turkeys are for Thanksgiving; talk is hot and heavy that a well-known press agent and his wife are parting. The reason is an actress whom he sponsored; Lotta Lehman has been the house guest of Jeanette MacDonald, who has been working very hard for her coming appearances; James Francis Crow, former newspaper man, has moved to RKO to be editorial assistant to William Dozier; on land or sea no girl will ever have a better wardrobe than Maria Montez when she leaves for the East. men forces estimated all the way from 50,000 to 100,000 men were caught in a cauldron along the channel coast—a Dunkirk in reverse. The Germans had stiffened in a thin arc around the last Nazi-held channel ports.

Supreme headquarters announced that in the area of Mons, Belgium, where the U. S. First Army has been operating, a large pocket of Germans has been wiped out, 9000 prisoners being taken and 40 tanks and 1500 motor vehicles captured or destroyed.

The Siegfried line was under actual or impending assault at both ends. The reports, none of them confirmed, of the three American crossings of the German frontier located the operations at Aachen, 70 miles east of Brussels; Perl, at the junction of the German-French-Luxembourg borders, and a point on the northeast frontier of Luxembourg.

French and American troops driving northward up the Saone valley in pursuit of German forces withdrawing from Southern France scored gains of as much as 18 miles today.

Sweeping past Macon, a wine center 68 miles by highway north of captured Lyon, French forces reached the vicinity of the village of Le Villars, on the west bank of the Saone near Tournus, by midafternoon. Tournus is a road center 20 miles north of Macon.

American forces also advanced east of Macon on the east side of the Saone.

The French took 2400 prisoners in their capture of Villefranche, boosting the total since the landings on the Mediterranean coast to more than 65,000.

In Belgium there was no official news of any American push closer to Aachen than Charleroi, 75 miles to the southwest. A mopup was in progress around Beaumont and Florennes, 15 miles south of Charleroi.

Free Belgian broadcasts, however, were recorded from Namur, 25 miles northeast of Charleroi and from the Belgian fortress city of Liege, 25 miles from Aachen, sugesting the Nazis might have been driven from those cities.

Supreme headquarters announced liberation of Antwerp and said its port area was being cleared speedily. Antwerp, second city of Belgium, has a population of 273,317.

In a broadcast to his countrymen in the Netherlands, Premier Pieter Gerbrandy said that "Allied armies have crossed the Dutch frontier."

Trapped German forces ranging from a few hundred to a few thousand were being mopped up by the British in the vicinity of Tournai, where Lt. Gen. Dempsey's army struck first into Belgium in a northward sweep from its Seine bridgehead which averaged 35 miles a day for six days.

The state of some of the defeated Nazi divisions which had fled a few days ago across the now sealed escape gap through Belgium was revealed by captured documents. These showed one German division was reduced to three officers and 90 men, another to 10 officers and 140 men and another to 800 officers and men from a normal strength of 8000 to 10,000.

These perhaps are extreme examples of the depletion of the German forces, but it has been suggested the estimates in the London press of 100,000 Nazis hemmed in by the Pas-de-Calais coastal trap likely were too high.

Believing there was a 15-mile gap in the American lines south of Mons a large number of Germans attempted to cross in front of a divisional command post and were mowed down. German prisoners were being taken all over the rear areas in one of the biggest roundups since the Americans landed on the beaches of Normandy three months ago. Germans and Americans were battling at close quarters between Mons and Brussels.

In sealing off the French channel coast Canadian and Polish forces took Abbeville, drove 20 miles north to Hesdin and then advanced an additional 10 miles to the northwest and captured the town of Montreuil.

And Cpl. Ralph F. Boragine of 259 Water st., Lawrence, another old acquaintance, who was astounded when I told him I'd been in Boston just two weeks from last Monday (marginalia—he's had a butterfly mustache since Africa, and hopes wife Dorothy (Ray) will let him keep it.)

And lastly, a big-bodied MP named PFC John P. Mancini of 514 Hopedale st., Allston, a veteran of the Africa show who's met his brothers, Columbus and Purino, over here.

So I'll close by saying that Heinie bombers have gone away, the overhead hullabaloo has died down, the frightened sheep quit baa-ing, the ack-ack guns are wearing their canvas jackets. All is peace.

Queries Legality Of Rent Ceiling

Indirectly questioning the legality of OPA rent ceilings, Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., imposed a fine of $400 today on J. Herbert Rice, operartor of a Washington st., Brighton, apartment house after he pleaded guilty to 52 counts of violating maximum rent regulations.

"There is a serious legal question involved here," Judge Wyzanski said, "and I don't like to pass upon it because it is very close to violating the fifth amendment."

The fifth amendment of the Constitution prohibits any person being held for a crime except on indictment by a grand jury.

Rice testified he had applied to the OPA for maximum rent figures. He said he waited seven months for an answer.

After being informed by the OPA that he was charging rentals above the maximum, he made full restitution to his tenants, he testified.

'Ike Tells Nazi Alien Get Set

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—A spokesman for Gen. Eisenhower told foreign workers in Germany in a broadcast today to desert their factories at the first opportunity as a first step in a co-ordinated plan of co-operation with the Allied military offensive against the Reich.

American Newsboy Back From Pacific

Navy yeoman Jerry Keogh, 21, former Boston American-Daily Record newsboy, has just returned home from the Central Pacific where he helped make headlines, participating in five major engagements, including the battle for Saipan.

Keough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Keogh of 22 Wathrop st., Roxbury, enlisted nearly three years ago. He has seen service aboard navy escort vessels and for the last year has been a member of the Navy's famous amphibious force.

Debs Aid Farmers

By BETTY ALDEN

DURING THE SUMMER many Junior Leaguers have swapped tennis racquets and golf clubs for hoes and pitchforks and gone to work to help New England farmers harvest the crops. Some have gone in groups from exclusive schools and big colleges, others joined the Women's Land Army and some were placed by their local county agents.

Included in the League's small army of tanned and healthy farmerettes are Anne P. Howes, Suzanne LaCroix, Fiona Munro, Theresa Putnam, June Goldthwaite, who returns to Smith the end of this week, Priscilla Blackett, Frances Hamlen, Joan Richardson, Helen V. Warren, Isabel Warren, Louisa Clark, Lucy Galluo, Katherine Hubbell, Rosamond Kent, Jane Lawton, Phyllis Mather, Anne Converse and Janet McKay.

FRANCES HAMLEN—deb farmerette.

Innumerable other Junior Leaguers are working in their own or their family's victory gardens and canning the crops for next winter. Another large group works in a settlement houses or summer camps. These volunteers include Sally Fay, Joan Flint, Laura Parkman, Mary Coulter, Suzanne Blanchard, Barbara Benedict, Jeannie Barstow, Nancy Putnam, Marcia Louise [illegible] Eng. Lieut. Treatment for

HAY FEVER

BRINGING AMAZING RELIEF TO MANY HAY FEVER AND ASTHMA SUFFERERS

AMAZING hope for the relief of hay fever and asthma and other conditions due to allergies has been reported by a famous professor and other doctors.

For years hundreds of thousands of people have wandered about unhappy sniffling and sneezing, and itching and wheezing for a few months each year, while doctors were baffled by the curiously prolonged "colds" and were at a loss as to how to treat them.

A great many scientists have been working to find something to give relief in these allergy conditions. Now, in high quantities of vitamin C, they offer fresh hope to the man or woman who is unfortunate enough to suffer from hay fever or asthma.

Large Quantities of Vitamin C Relieve 88% of Cases in Clinical Tests

During a period of four years, a famous scientist had noticed that the body's supply of vitamin C seems to go down during hay fever attacks. So he decided to experiment with actual results of using unusually large doses of vitamin C in treating 25 human hay fever sufferers during the height of the hay fever season. These 25 hay fever sufferers were given large amounts of vitamin C daily between August 15th and September 15th and there was a decided improvement in 88% of the patients participating in this experiment. "Almost immediate relief", is one report, and others showed equally remarkable improvement. In these tests a much higher potency of vitamin C was used than is found in the average multi-vitamin product.

Hay fever sufferers wishing to experiment with this high potency vitamin C can now get extra high strength vitamin C in easy-to-take tablets at the Nature Food Centres stores. These tablets are called "Ultra-C Tablets." One small "Ultra-C Tablet" contains as much vitamin C as found in four-ounce glasses of five of the fruits highest in this vitamin. Think of it!—all this vitamin C in one small tablet! Try "Ultra-C Tablets" at once. They are inexpensive to use and are absolutely harmless. Each tiny "Ultra-C Tablet" contains 3,600 units of vitamin C—six times the minimum adult's daily requirement. One or two of these tablets daily should be enough to give this a fair trial.

Extra high strength vitamin C, as found in "Ultra-C Tablets", offers such great promise of success in these miserable sensitivities, that every hay fever sufferer should try for relief now. Why suffer this season if "Ultra-C Tablets" may stop that sneeze. Get "Ultra-C Tablets" today at any Nature Food Centres store. Three sizes—$1.50, $2.50 and $150. Mail orders postpaid. Sold only at

How to get wire to Munda

THE COLONEL SAYS, "Run a loop over to those two divisions on Munda." So you just run a loop over, that's all.

First there's a mile and a quarter of muddy plantations. You and fifty other guys picked up from operations and construction battalions slog through the mud . . . dragging your equipment after you.

Then there's a couple of miles of ocean staring you in the face, and you haven't got any underwater cable. This is a job that nobody could have planned ahead. So what? So you take some of this rubber-covered dry land cable that plugs together every quarter-mile. Nobody ever laid cable like this under water before, but nobody was ever in the spot you are in right now.

Then you come ashore into steaming jungle . . . two miles of it. And while you're hacking your way through, the Japs tell you off with artillery and strafing attacks.

Another two miles of ocean and a mile of jungle on the mainland, and there you are with your two divisions wired for sound . . . four circuits, each carrying three telephone and four telegraph messages.

So you come back to Corps Headquarters on Rendova and what does the colonel say? He says, "What's been keepin' you guys? Don't you know we gotta run another loop?"

AT LAST REPORTS from the South Pacific three of the four circuits between Rendova Island and the mainland were still in operation; one circuit went out about 30 days after installation.

The Spiral-4 cable used in this operation was developed jointly by the Signal Corps and Bell Telephone Laboratories and manufactured in large quantities by Western Electric Company.

Practically all the productive capacity of the telephone equipment manufacturing plants, greatly expanded since Pearl Harbor, is being used to meet the needs of the Army and Navy. That is why there aren't enough facilities to meet civilian demands here at home.

If you are one of those waiting for service, we think it is only fair to tell you that we won't be able to fill your order until the facilities become available.

But we are sure you agree that our fighting men have first call on any equipment being made.

State to Curb Rum Sales If V-Day Gets Too Wild

Gov. Saltonstall anticipates no necessity for any action by State police or the State Guard, on V-Day, although precautions have been taken to stop liquor sales should that be needed to tone down any out-of-hand celebrations.

So the governor said today upon returning to his desk after spending 10 days with his mother at North Haven, Me.

"Our job is first to win the war. We will consider celebrating after it's won," the governor said at his press conference in answer to a question as to whether arrangements for state celebration were planned.

Probably the pastors of all churches in the state will be asked to conduct services of prayer and thanksgiving on the day of an armistice, the governor said, and there probably will be public exercises in the State House, but no arrangements have been made.

"I am confident the people will not injure persons or property," he said. "It is beyond my comprehension that such a celebration would take that form. So I am confident local authorities will be able to take care of the situation."

However, just in case any community gets too enthusiatic, measures taken by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission were revealed today from a letter written Aug. 17 to all liquor retailers.

"The mayor or selectmen of any town," the ABCC letter read, "may in cases of riot or great public excitement order the sale of liquor stopped for not to exceed three days."

This letter was supplemented by another from Arthur G. Burtness, chairman of the ABCC, to the governor Aug. 21 saying: "It is our considered opinion that this section provides adequate authority to take care of the situation."

The governor said he had replied, approving the action.

Demands Hull Bare Plans for Europe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP) -A proposal that the Secretary of State tell the Senate, behind closed doors, what machinery has been prepared for participating in the settlement of European affairs after the war was advanced today by Sen. Wiley (R.) of Wisconsin.

"I should like to know," Wiley staide, "what machinery is available to handle the tremendous number of postwar problems in Europe? What are our commitments in relation to the rehabilitation of our Allies?"

Famous Shampoo Tint for Use at Home

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IF THERE IS ONE PROBLEM more than any other that beauty editors should harp on, it is that of prematurely graying or fading hair. Here goes for some urgent harping!

I don't mean that hair is more important than skin and eyes, but that too many girls and women dither around about the subject until the gray streaks are noticeable and then they hesitate to "touch it up" for fear of someone knowing.

For heaven's sake, smarten up! You don't pretend that the color on your lips or the wave in your hair is nature's own, do you? Most blondes keep their hair lightened anyhow, but many dark-haired women still suffer from a Victorian complex about tinting their tresses.

And don't be stymied by well-meaning friends who say: "Oh, don't do anything to your hair, darling. Gray hair is so lovely with a young face." It usually isn't, and even when it is all men instinctively assume that gray hair denotes age.

It is now known that many girls under 20 lose the pigmentation in their hair. Sometimes it is a family trait, and it may be a vitamin deficiency. Scientists are now working on the restoring of natural pigment with a B complex vitamin, but it will be some years before it is perfected, and you can't afford to wait.

Note particularly, when the shampoo tints now available not only give your hair a natural, lasting color but actually improve its health and vigor! And right here in Boston is the chemist-cosmetician who perfected one of the best, in whose shop you can be certain of perfect results.

Most good beauty salons have one operator or several who specialize in tinting. If you've let your hair get really drab, it is a good idea to have it done professionally at least once. But you can buy this famous shampoo tint and use it at home with perfect confidence. And I promise you won't look "dyed."

Call the Beauty Department, LIBerty 4000, or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for the name of this product and other information

THE SUIT worn by Deanna Durbin of Universal films is marked as definitely new by the glitter influence plus simplicity of line . . . The jacket over its straight skirt fastens with concealed hooks down the front . . . bands of black jet finish in a scroll at the front, and her black jet bag gives it that elegant note.—R. M.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday — Everyone has been saddened, I think, by the death of former Sen. George W. Norris. As one reads the editorials in the different papers, one realizes how prone we are to give people their due at the time of their death — but to wait till then before giving full measure.

How often, during their lives, the very things for which we praise them at the end have not received the wide support which would have been so welcome at an earlier date!

Men like George Norris were pioneers in good citizenship. TVA will stand as a living monument to his memory for many, many years. It will be the kind of monument that he would be glad to have. A monument of living people, all of them living hopefully and increasing in well-being because a man fought a good fight during his lifetime, and won out.

ONE OF MY MOST cherished possessions is a letter which George Norris once wrote to me. The things he said had the quality of meaning that could come only from one whose integrity and high purpose were unquestioned.

The family must look with pride on his life, so full of accomplishments and service to the nation. In spite of their personal loss, they must feel grateful that he was given so many years in which to work for his fellow men.

THIS MORNING I read the second of Sgt. Bud Hutton's article on the reaction of servicemen returning home.

He puts his finger unerringly on the things which must make a man wonder, when back from the beaches of Normandy or the islands in the Pacific, whether we at home will ever understand what wa' on our own doorstep might have been like if they had not saved us from it.

As I read it, I kept thinking that there are two kinds of soldiers—these young ones who have had to give their lives in military service and the equally valiant ones like George Norris, who throughout their entire lives have fought for the right as they saw it.

Sailor Hat Here Again In Fashions for Fall

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE sailor is a hat that seems to have immortal life, for no matter what the milliners do any year or season they always manage to show sailors along with their new concoctions. This year is no exception, and this fall the sailor is back in new glory. Nicest of the new type sailors, to my mind, are the ones with draped satin or velvet over the brims and puffing around the crowns. They look very different trimmed this way.

I have chosen a model for you to see. This comes from Madame Pauline, and is a beauty. The sailor is brown felt, and the soft, puffed drapery over the brim and crown is pastel blue satin. The new massive look is gotten this way, and at the same time it's a hat most anyone could wear.

THIS FALL and winter, fashions will be fancier and more feminine than in any season of the past decade. Gray, drab hair is out for the woman under 50 . . . for they will wear jewelled clips and strands of pearls in our locks, like Marguerite Chapman, Columbia film actress.

Time-Plan Your Breakfast

By MARTHA LEE

BREAKFAST is an extremely important meal that is too often slighted. It is so vital that our government, through the national nutrition program this September, is asking every family to get into the swing of the good breakfast habit.

Streamlined for speed and efficiency, planned for good nutrition, modern breakfasts are a joy both to prepare and to eat. Up-to-date breakfasts can easily be prepared during the time it takes to make a cup of good coffee. Here is a ten-minute breakfast menu and the preparation schedule:

10-MINUTE MENU

Sliced Oranges
Ready-to-Eat Cereal
Streusel Coffee Cake, Butter
Milk or Coffee

PREPARATION SCHEDULE

1—Put water on for coffee; measure coffee into pot.
(Or use your favorite quick method.)
2—Peel and slice oranges.
3—Pour ready-to-eat cereal into bowls.
4—Place dishes and food on table.
5—Finish making coffee (if necessary).
6—Serve breakfast.

Cooked cereal may be prepared the night before and reheated for breakfast.

Does preparing an adequate breakfast every morning sound like too much to ask? It's simple when menus are planned around a basic pattern: fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. For active people, such as war workers and school children, whose daily nutritive requirements may be greater, serve larger portions of the basic pattern foods or add to them other suitable foods as eggs or breakfast meats.

Here are other well-timed breakfast suggestions.

15-MINUTE MENU

Fresh or Cooked Fruit
Ready-to-Eat cereal
Milk
French Toast Peach Jam
Milk or Coffee

PREPARATION SCHEDULE

1—Put water on for coffee; measure coffee into pot.
2—Put griddle over low heat. Prepare French toast; start cooking it.
3—Serve fruit in dishes.
4—Pour ready-to-eat cereal into bowls.
5—Place dishes and food on table.
6—Finish making coffee and French toast.
7—Serve breakfast.

20-MINUTE MENU

Orange or Grapefruit Juice
Cereal (to be cooked) Milk
Soft Cooked Eggs or Bacon
Hot Buttered Toast
Milk or Coffee

PREPARATION SCHEDULE

1—Measure water for cereal; put on to boil.
2—Boil water for coffee; measure coffee into pot.
3—Squeeze oranges or grapefruit (or prepare other fruit).
4—Measure cereal and add to boiling water. Cook according to directions on cereal package.
5—Make toast and prepare eggs or bacon. (If eggs are used, they can be cooked in the bottom of the double boiler.)
6—Place dishes and food on table.
7—Finish making coffee (if necessary).
8—Serve breakfast.

A bowl of either ready-to-eat or to-be-cooked cereal served with milk makes a vital contribution to breakfast. It's quick to get yet provides protein, the important B-vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin), calcium, iron, and energy. Couple fall fruits with your morning cereal for extra appetite appeal.

Time-plan your breakfasts and they will arrive at the table punctually. It takes but a minute to plan your menu the night before and keep a preparation schedule either in your mind or on paper. With a little preliminary planning you can help your family to a good breakfast without setting the alarm earlier.

Corey Chief Aide in Salvation Army Drive

Appointment of George H. Corey, president of the Malden Trust Co., as vice-chairman of the 1944-45 Salvation Army Greater Boston Maintenance Appeal was announced today.

Mr. Corey, active in Red Cross and Boy Scout work, is vice-president of the Tuberculosis Society; a trustee of the Malden Hospital and chairman of the Malden advisory board of the Salvation Army.

OPA Restricts Oil for Stoves

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Due to the scarcity of kerosene and other light fuels, special restrictions on the rationing of oil heating stoves will be applied to the entire country Sept. 9, OPA announced today.

Thereafter, ration certificates for oil stoves will be issued only to persons finding it impossible to use any other type of stove or to those replacing an oil burner no longer usable.

Heretofore, these restrictions applied only to 28-state "emergency oil shortage area." In other sections persons showing need usually were able to obtain any type of stove needed, including oil burners.

Paying Off

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 5 (AP)—The beaten body of elderly John Coffeen was found on the floor of his home, and on his chest was pinned a note which read:

"This will teach you to sell bum whisky."

HUDSON WIFE A SUICIDE

HUDSON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Alice Sleeper, 20, is dead from a bullet wound in the head which the associate medical examiner said was self-inflicted. She was the wife of Aviation Cadet Oscar Sleeper, stationed at San Antonio, Tex., and lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Morel.

'Down to Miami' Smart Comedy for Shubert Fans

By PEGGY DOYLE

Now that gas rationing has nixed Florida as a vacation mecca, Producer Edgar MacGregor comes forward with a Stuart Chaney-designed armchair junket, "Down to Miami," which he presented last night in the tastefully refurbished Shubert.

ELAINE ELLIS

"Down to Miami," which brings up that old Meeahmee-or-Myamee question, has a touch of "Potash and Perlmutter," "Friendly Enemies," "Abie's Irish Rose," "Life With Father," several answers to a talent scout's quest, and not a little genuine comedy.

The new Conrad Westervelt comedy is at its funniest when Robert Leonard's milhonaire proprietor of Mandel's Emporium and Herbert Heyes' smalltown banker and fellow-townsman get together after a few tipples in Miami's Rooney Sq. Hotel bar, bury their congenital antagonisms with a genial exchange of partnerships and repetitious handshaking.

The plot is concerned with Papa and Mama Mandel's outright fenagling to promote a marriage between their daughter, Gloria, and a marriageable Marine, Harry Katz, with the aid of Miami's famed moonlight. The merger of these department store fortunes should mean bigger and better emporiums, but that naturally is incidental.

Banker and Mrs. Torrence Applegate, also registered at the Rooney with their tall, blonde and handsome Gongressional Medal-wearing son and Banker Gunston's daughter, have somewhat similar ambitious plans for their pride and joy.

Papa Mandel doesn't have to be the seventh son of a seventh daughter to know that it's a natural for an applecart upset when the good-natured, non-swimming Marine suggests that the major take Gloria, "the best swimmer at Schmitz College," for a swim Since his fiancee loves to rhumba as much as does his good friend, Katz, the major thinks it's in order for them to take to the dance floor.

There's a great deal of talk before, during and after this switcheroo of partners, not all of it amusing. There is a fake drowning by youknowwho, or is it whom, and a gallant rescue.

Elaine Ellis' Gloria is the prettiest Home wrecked by the foot lights this and many another season She can act, too. Charles Lang, the blonde major whom the horsswaggles into marriage, is also talented as well as good-appearing and if a talent scout hasn't got these two tied up with movie contracts one soon will.

But, as your aging aisle-sitter sees it, the accent on youth is overdone in "Down in Miami." With such rich potentialities in the characterizations of the Jewish merchant and the banker, of the Mayflower background, it would seem that the action should be focussed on them for heartier comedy effects. Robert Leonard's Morris Mandel is gorgeously comic and rates center-staging or I'll eat the program.

With this juicy character and Herbert Heyes' shrewd, uppity banker built up, and their respective wives, played so effectively by Dora Weissman and Merle Maddern, strengthened, "Down in Miami" should gain noticeably in comedy values. No changes, please, though, in Brian O'Mara's Officer O'Hara, a most authoritative and laugh-compelling job.

'Wallflower' in Premiere at Plymouth

"Wallflower," a hardy Broadway bloom which weathered eight months in our effete First City, yesterday afternoon had the distinction of opening the newly-wallpapered, painted and carpeted Plymouth Theater, now as fresh as some of the comedy's lines.

Fresh, yes, but hardly subtle, a detail, however, which failed to dampen the play's reception by a notably enthusiastic Labor Day audience, which took its laughs where it found them.

The Mary Orr-Reginald Denham play is of that school of comedy dealing with adolescence and middle age. Its misses are beyond the junior stage, are emerging from their teens and enjoying a vacation home from college.

Even before they buzz the bell, these two step-sisters, the one the daughter of Jessamine Linnet and the other the daughter of Andrew Linnet by their first marriage, precipitate trouble. Her daughter, Joy, is a radiant, loquacious extrovert, who mows down the stagline like Lt. Gen. Patton's U. S. 3d Army is mowing down those "supermen." His daughter, sensitive, thoughtful Jackie, just folds up and becomes background whenever her honeypot sister is in the vicinity.

Enough flowers to stock a florist's shop and a deluge of telephone calls from the local boys inviting her to the country club charity benefit dance greet Joy upon her arrival home. Half of one bouquet is Jackie's sole tribute. Irked Jackie's father, an assistant district attorney who is up to his ears in plans to solve the town's juvenile delinquency problem, issues the ultimatum that both girls will go or neither goes.

Right about here the talkie-walkie business, with both parents stomping about and raising their voices, gets out of hand and it ain't funny. Too, Betty Blythe, beautiful silent star whose black hair now has a distinguishing white streak, delivers her sides as recitatives in her role as the assistant d. a.'s handsome wife. The Asst. D. A., impersonated by Frank McNellis, commits the same sin whenever he has more than a six paragraph to say.

A sudden turnabout in the sister social status is brought about when the D. A.'s sensational raid on a dance-and-drink den. Jackie rates the headlines and, if she did to, the stag-line.

Throughout, the script is punctured by racy lines that the paying customers greeted with uproarious laughter. Not so us. It could have been their holiday mood and our workaday resistance to the obvious. Judge for yourselves.—P. D.

Dorothy Kilgallen writes "Broadway's Voice" every day for the Boston American.

"Guess My Age!"

New Kind of Face Powder Makes Her Look Years Younger!

ONCE this lovely girl looked quite a bit older. Some people actually thought she was rapidly approaching middle age . . .

For she was the innocent victim of an unflattering face powder! It was such an unkind powder—treacherous and sly. It showed up every tiny line in her face—accented every little skin fault—even seemed to exaggerate the size of her pores.

But look at her now! Can you guess her age? Would you say she is 20-30-35?

At last she has found a face powder that really flatters her skin—makes it look younger and more enchanting!

Why Lady Esther Face Powder Is So Flattering

Lady Esther Face Powder is extra flattering because it's made differently. It isn't just mixed, just sifted, in the usual way. It's blown by Twin Hurricanes—blended with the speed and power of hurricanes—to look clearer, smoother and more flattering on your skin!

Because of this patented, exclusive method of hurricane blending, the texture of Lady Esther Face Powder is much smoother and finer than ordinary powder. The first touch of your puff spreads a delicate film of beauty on your skin, hiding little lines, little blemishes. And Lady Esther Face Powder clings longer, too—clings four long hours!

But the most exciting difference is in the shades. Lady Esther shades have a subtle new quality—because the color is blown in by hurricanes. Many women say that the Lady Esther shades are so fresh and alive that ordinary powder shades seem dull and drab by comparison.

Living Proof— In Your Own Mirror!

Just try Lady Esther Face Powder! Try it on one side of your face—and on the other, apply your usual make-up. Then compare—for looks, for texture, for shade! Does Lady Esther Face Powder make your skin look smoother, younger? YOU be the judge! No matter what you paid for your present face powder—even if you paid $10.00 or more—you'll find that Lady Esther Face Powder makes you look more beautiful!

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 — Lenore Lemmon, the playgirl, is in Florida holding a pow-wow with her in-laws on the subject of a divorce from Jakie Webb. Her real fellow wants it that way . . . A $1,000,000 slush fund is being raised by the building owners in the Garment Center to fight the proposed LaGuardia Apparel Center. If the Mayor's plan goes through, millions of dollars' worth of real estate will be made worthless by the switch . . . Gypsy Rose Lee and her husband, Alexander Kirkland, tried a 30-day reconciliation, but without success. They'll file again — this time for good . . . Gary Cooper's asking price for a guest shot on Jackie Gleason's radio program was $5000, according to the comic . . . Clark Gable is at the Waldorf Towers, very quietly . . . The town's smart money is betting that Frank Fay will marry comedienne-dancer Betty Kean before the year is over . . . Lina Basquette, recovered from the shock of the recent unpleasant notoriety, is in New York looking for musical comedy or night club work. She dances.

MARLENE DIETRICH hasn't left for overseas, as several of the gazettes reported. She's in uniform, alerted, and making every minute count with Lt. Herbert Whiting . . . Rumors have it that Mary McCormic, the former opera singer and ex-wife of a Mdivani prince, is about to waltz down the aisle with a wealthy Chicagoan.

★ ★ ★

NEWEST FEUD in radio involved a famous comic and his straightman. The latter is straying too far from the stooge groove and becoming too funny to suit his boss . . . Starlet Marianne O'Brien is in town . . . Col. Hal Roach returned to this country from France, via a hospital ship, in time to celebrate his second wedding anniversary with his bride, Lucille. They're in Washington . . . One of the best known of the East 55th st. nitery owners will abdicate from the spot that bears his name and open a new place some blocks away. The reason: incompatibility with his partner. He'll take his name with him . . . Jewelry biggies are armed over the progress achieved in the field of man-made sapphs and rubies. They believe the gem market will be tremendously affected by this facwitter the war.

MIMI FORSYTH, Hollywood starlet who is divorcing Ben Bogeaus, will marry Cpl. Jay Eddy, of the Stork Club set, when the decree is final . . . Odd boast department: When La Martinique reopens, with new decor this autumn, it promises to unveil "the most luxurious powder room ever seen in a cafe" . . . It's definitely been Be Kind to Animals week at the Coq Rouge. Saturday night patrons gave the double-take to a lady who sat calmly feeding her pet jaguar chopped meat—and from a spoon—while he sat with his paws on the table like a little gentleman.

Micey Rooney

AVA GARDNER and Helmut Dantine have been making the rounds together . . . Walter Colmes, who made the film "Trovadero," is now talking to Harry Sugarman about a musical to be called "Beverly Tropics" . . . Leland Hayward wants Jimmy Cardwell for a role in the Broadway production of "A Bell for Adano." . . . Director Edward Cline has a running gag in all pictures whereby anyone making a mistake which holds up production must wear a red ribbon around the neck. On the ribbon is rung a miniature dog house. Now Lockheed has adopted the idea as a means of pepping up its executives . . . Brian Donlevy claims he would rather play gin rummy with a poor loser than any kind of winner.

MICKEY ROONEY, while he was in Hollywood on furlough, took a busman's holiday, visited Universal Studio, saw the Donald O'Connor picture, "Patrick the Great," at a special screening, and had lunch in the studio restaurant. In his uniform and GI haircut, Mickey caused quite a stir.

At the table with Mickey were Martha O'Driscoll, Peggy Ryan, Sidney Miller and Inez James. Mickey was the life of the party. He put a bowl of fruit salad on his head and was Carmen Miranda. He stood up and did a comedy routine he'd heard someone do the night before on the radio. He showed Miss James and Miller, who are song writers, how to compose a song extemporaneously, making up the lyrics as he went along. He told how he played a gag on a feminine star, going up to her on the street and asking for an autograph. He did this with gestures, first enacting himself, and then pantomiming the reaction of the star. It was a riot.

"It's darned decent of Mickey to come back and entertain us civilians," Miller said.

Rooney will go to Camp Seebert, and O. C. S.

Boston After Dark

THE MAYFAIR—BOSTON'S only major nightclub with a venerable tradition of housing "names"—will resume its "name" policy this (victory-in-Europe) season . . . Diosa Costello, recently reported as bound forthwith for Hollywood to make a picture, is opening at the Mayfair on Sept. 27 . . . But for the next few weeks the famous nightclub in Broadway will be far from inactive.

★ ★ ★

"BOOTS" McKENNA is rehearsing an entirely new show, with The Chadwicks, Dan Harden (a "new type of emcee" whom Manager Michael Redstone discovered in Montreal), Sonny Mars, a comedian, Marie Louise Lopez, a Mexican singer, featured, and a chorus-line of importees from New York's musical comedy ranks . . . "Boots" sends word that the girls are beauties, and that the season's debut, scheduled for tomorrow night, should be an imposing one.

★ ★ ★

FOLLOWING MISS COSTELLO'S engagement, five stars of the cabaret circuit have signed on the Mayfair's standard contract-forms . . . They are Belle Baker, Georgie Price, Wini Shaw, Rose Marie and Sophie Tucker . . . Miss Tucker's booking is definite except for the dates . . . Meantime, Arthur Lee Simpkins, the good singer, has been "held over" again . . . If previous bookings in New York could be set aside, Simpkins could play the Latin Quarter until Columbus Day.

★ ★ ★

WE WERE SLIGHTLY premature with news of Ruby Foo's plans for her Beachcomber, in Providence . . . The date of the fall opening of the refurbished nightclub in the Crown Hotel which Miss Foo is operating under lease has been set for Sept. 18 . . . Phil Regan, a lad who keeps his word and an opcure, strangely enough, in Oriental dishes, has said that he would be on hand, if bookings make it possible, for the opening . . . Meantime, Phil's singing at the Keith-Boston is helping make this current week something less than a dull anti-climax to Betty Hutton's personal appearance last week, when business was huge.

★ ★ ★

THE FORMER BROOKLYN cop is in Boston this visit without Mrs. Regan . . . A gregarious soul—and what a bet he would have been for the singing waiter's part (the leading role) in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn"! —Tenor Regan entertained Jack Chan, maitre d' of The Den, and Miss May Fong, Jack's reported fiancee, at Statler's Terrace Room.

DANNY DUGGAN, The one-time ballroom dancing favorite from Worcester, has become busy with producing nightclub shows, and his first major effort this season will entertain the opening night guests of the Indian Room, in Templon tonight . . . Eddie Dingold, the boss of The Barn at Salisbury Beach, can now uncross his fingers after a successful season in which calamities, for a change, were conspicuously absent . . . In 1942, the roof of The Barn burned completely, causing a closing . . . Last year, after The Barn had been rebuilt from cellar to roof, the place was on the glory trail with its biggest opening night ever . . . But when the crowd had departed, fire struck again, and the place was destroyed . . . The Barn was out of action throughout 1943 . . . This season, nothing except good business—happened . . . Eddie hopes to reopen next spring.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—If you marry, it is important you choose a person of at least equal intelligence, integrity and high principles, rather than consider finances or wonder under what zodiacal sign he or she may be born. Virgo thrives with harmony, neatness pleasant surroundings; may become actually ill if living with disorder, ill-humor. You appreciate music, anything artistic. Virgo usually remains young unto old age. Birthdate of: Louis XIV, King of France.

Leon Errol is wearing a vest in "Musical Roundup" which was worn by Clark Gable in "Gone With the Wind." "I've always wanted to fill Gable's shoes," said Errol. "but I never knew I'd one day be filling his vest." . . . Alexis Smith and Craig Stevens finally rented an apartment in Beverly Hills, and then discovered that Fred MacMurray was their landlord. A few days later they read of the great amount of money paid in salaries to MacMurray by Paramount, and Stevens said, "Why should we have to pay him rent!"

Mickey Rooney

AVA GARDNER and Helmut Dantine have been making the rounds together . . . Walter Colmes, who made the film "Trocadero," is now talking to Harry Sugarman about a musical to be called "Beverly Tropics" . . . Leland Hayward wants Jimmy Cardwell for a role in the Broadway production of "A Bell for Adano." . . . Director Edward Cline has a running gag in all pictures whereby anyone making a mistake which holds up production must wear a red ribbon around the neck. On the ribbon is rung a miniature dog house. Now Lockheed has adopted the idea as a means of pepping up its executives . . . Brian Donlevy claims he would rather play gin rummy with a poor loser than any kind of winner.

MICKEY ROONEY, while he was in Hollywood on furlough, took a busman's holiday, visited Universal Studio, saw the Donald O'Connor picture, "Patrick the Great," at a special screening, and had lunch in the studio restaurant. In his uniform and GI haircut, Mickey caused quite a stir.

At the table with Mickey were Martha O'Driscoll, Peggy Ryan, Sidney Miller and Inez James. Mickey was the life of the party. He put a bowl of fruit salad on his head and was Carmen Miranda. He stood up and did a comedy routine he'd heard someone do the night before on the radio. He showed Miss James and Miller, who are song writers, how to compose a song extemporaneously, making up the lyrics as he went along. He told how he played a gag on a feminine star, going up to her on the street and asking for an autograph. He did this with gestures, first enacting himself, and then pantomiming the reaction of the star. It was a riot.

"It's darned decent of Mickey to come back and entertain us civilians," Miller said.

Rooney will go to Camp Seebert, and O. C. S.

George Holland

Boston After Dark

THE MAYFAIR—BOSTON'S only major nightclub with a venerable tradition of housing "names"—will resume its "name" policy this (victory-in-Europe) season . . . Diosa Costello, recently reported as bound forthwith for Hollywood to make a picture, is opening at the Mayfair on Sept. 27 . . . But for the next few weeks the famous nightclub in Broadway will be far from inactive.

★ ★ ★

"BOOTS" McKENNA is rehearsing an entirely new show, with The Chadwicks, Dan Harden (a "new type of emcee" whom Manager Michael Redstone discovered in Montreal), Sonny Mars, a comedian, Marie Louise Lopez, a Mexican singer, featured, and a chorus-line of importees from New York's musical comedy ranks . . . "Boots" sends word that the girls are beauties, and that the season's debut, scheduled for tomorrow night, should be an imposing one.

★ ★ ★

FOLLOWING MISS COSTELLO'S engagement, five stars of the cabaret circuit have signed on the Mayfair's standard contract-forms . . . They are Belle Baker, Georgie Price, Wini Shaw, Rose Marie and Sophie Tucker . . . Miss Tucker's booking is definite except for the dates . . . Meantime, Arthur Lee Simpkins, the good singer, has been "held over" again . . . If previous bookings in New York could be set aside, Simpkins could play the Latin Quarter until Columbus Day.

★ ★ ★

WE WERE SLIGHTLY premature with news of Ruby Foo's plans for her Beachcomber, in Providence . . . The date of the fall opening of the refurbished nightclub in the Crown Hotel which Miss Foo is operating under lease has been set for Sept. 18 . . . Phil Regan, a lad who keeps his word and an opera, strangely enough, in Oriental dishes, has said that he would be on hand, if bookings make it possible, for the opening . . . Meantime, Phil's singing at the Keith-Boston is helping make this current week something less than a dull anti-climax to Betty Hutton's personal appearance last week, when business was huge.

★ ★ ★

THE FORMER BROOKLYN cop is in Boston this visit without Mrs. Regan . . . Aggregations seal—and what a lot he would have been for the singing waiter's part (the leading role) in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn"!

—Tenor Regan entertained Jack Chan, maitre d' of The Den, and Miss May Fong, Jack's reported fiancee, at Statler's Terrace Room.

DANNY DU'GGAN, The one-time ballroom dancing favorite from Worcester, has become busy with producing nightclub shows, and his first major effort this season will celebrate the opening night guests of the Indian Room, in Tamaton tonight . . . Eddie Mephisto, the boss of The Barn at Salisbury Beach, can now uncross his fingers after a successful season in which calamities, for a change, were conspicuously absent . . . In 1942, the roof of The Barn burned completely, causing a closing . . . Last year, after The Barn had been rebuilt from cellar to roof, the place was on the glory trail with its biggest opening night ever . . . But when the crowd had departed, fire struck again, and the place was destroyed . . . The Barn was out of action throughout 1943 . . . This season, nothing except good business—happened . . . Eddie hopes to reopen next spring.

Horoscope

Tuesday, Sept. 5, 1944

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—If you marry, it is important you choose a person of at least equal intelligence, integrity and high principles, rather than consider finances or wonder under what zodiacal sign he or she may be born. Virgo thrives with harmony, neatness pleasant surroundings; may become actually ill if living with disorder, ill-humor. You appreciate music, anything artistic. Virgo usually remains young unto old age. Birthdate of: Louis XIV, King of France.

McCarthy's Genius Now Asserting Itself

By JACK CONWAY

Joe McCarthy's genius as a baseball manager will prove very helpful to the Yanks in the closing drive of the humpty dumpty American League pennant race.

With inferior playing strength to the Browns, Tigers and Red Sox, McCarthy has kept the Yanks in the thick of one of the most thrilling flag battles in the history of the junior organization.

Joe McCarthy

The excitement of the playing field has even spread to the front office of the Red Sox as was evident in Sunday's game when General Manager Eddie Collins forgot figuring management problems and stormed into the umpire's room and demanded an explanation of Umpire Bill Summers' ruling that Bill McGhee was entitled to a home run on a hit that was interfered with by a fan in the stands.

Even though the Sox had lost Hughson, Wagner and Doerr to the armed services, Collins was filled with pennant spirit and did not wish a decision by an umpire to deprive his club of an opportunity to win a game.

The Yanks have snatched the American League lead. They knocked off the Athletics twice yesterday while the Browns were dividing a twin bill with the Cleveland Indians.

With the pressure on in the closing games of the season, I look for McCarthy to win many close contests with the Yanks. McCarthy may lose out his baseball moves like a great chess player. He knows just what percentage is in favor of his club with each play, and he makes few mistakes.

In former years some of McCarthy's success with the Yanks was attributed to his all-star cast. This season Joe has been obliged to do the best he could with only a fair collection of players. The fact the Yanks are still very much in the hectic pennant struggle is a tribute to his amazing ability. Taking advantage of the mistakes of rival managers has been one of the reasons the Yanks have done so well.

Last year I held a poll of readers of this column as to who they thought was the leading manager in the big league. The choice went to McCarthy with much support for Billy Southworth, Bill McKechnie, Joe Cronin, Connie Mack and Frankie Frisch. A poll this year would undoubtedly give McCarthy an overwhelming vote.

Cards Better Standing

The outstanding performance of the St. Louis Cardinals this year has greatly increased Billy Southworth's rating as a manager. Southworth has kept his club playing at top speed all season and he is now watching it coast to another National League pennant.

Unlike the Browns, Tigers, Sox and Yanks in the American League, the Cardinals have played consistent ball. This is why they have been able to secure such a huge lead on their National League rivals.

Kopf Shows Much Power

Herb Kopf's Boston Yanks displayed real power and fine football form as they won from Lt. Com. Jimmy Crowley's Samson football team by a score of 14 to 0. It was agreed by the experts who witnessed the conflict that George Cafego, former Tennessee star, Dave Smukler of Temple and Ted Williams of Boston College possess the kind of ability needed in professional football. These players gave the Yanks their victory.

"Swede" Nelson had told me that the Yanks would place a first class, fighting team in the field and that it would be a credit to Boston. "Swede," who has done much to interest professional football in Boston, says that in the post war period the Yanks should have one of the best clubs in the National League.

"I know Ted Collins and Herb Kopf will do their utmost to get as many outstanding local players on their club," said Nelson. "Angello Bartelli of Springfield, former Notre Dame quarterback who is one of the greatest passers in football, will be one of the key men in Collins' past war club. Boston College, Harvard, Holy Cross, Dartmouth and the other New England colleges will later furnish necessary material.

"A Boston club with many New England stars in the lineup will prove very popular."

CYO Golf Tournament

The large field in the Catholic Youth Organization Golf Tournament at the Commonwealth Golf Club today is added proof of the comeback being staged by the links game. Coast Guardsman Ernie Doherty, winner of this tournament in 1941 and 1942, is favored to triumph today and gain the Cardinal O'Connell trophy. Joseph Monahan, Jr., of Belmont, son of Judge Monahan, won the CYO tournament last year, defeating Doherty. Monahan will be unable to compete in this year's tournament as he is stationed at an Army camp in the South.

Landis Order Bogs Gamblers

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 5 (AP)—At the request of Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, vice squad detective arrested 20 men at Shibe Park yesterday as common gamblers.

The raid, largest ever staged at a baseball park here, followed a letter from Judge Landis to Public Safety Director James H. Malone in which the baseball czar said Shibe Park gambling was "the worst in the country" and must "be stamped out."

Warfare Easier Than Big League Pitching

By BILL GRIMES

Frankie Wurm, the 18-year-old southpaw, who started the second game yesterday for the Dodgers, was one of the first American soldiers to enter Cassino with Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army.

Before he enlisted in the U. S. Army, Wurm was in the Pony League, pitching for Oleans, a Dodger farm club. Although he was born at Salem, N. Y., Wurm was brought up in Brooklyn.

Wurm went through the invasion of North Africa and then his artillery outfit was sent to Sicily and after that island had been conquered moved onto the main land. Although he had many narrow escapes, Wurm's closest call was at Cassino. During a bombing, Wurm and his buddy dove for a fox hole. Frankie made it. His buddy was killed.

After 21 months of active service, Wurm was sent home and a few weeks ago received a medical discharge on the grounds of battle fatigue (Shell Shock).

As soon as he was returned to civilian life, Wurm reported to the Dodgers, who optioned him to St. Paul. Having been away from his home for almost two years, Frankie decided to visit with his family in Brooklyn before reporting to St. Paul. After 10 days with his folks, Frankie went to St. Paul, but because the American Association season had less than a month to go by the time he reported to Mickie Heath he was returned to Brooklyn.

MORE JITTERS THAN WAR

Manager Leo Durocher gave Wurm a chance to start his first major league game yesterday. Frankie, who walked five Braves before he was relieved in the opening inning, admitted after the game that he had been more scared in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, but not any more nervous. He seemed to have plenty of stuff, but due to the jitters he was unable to get the ball over the plate. He showed a clever move to first base and he has the actions of a big leaguer.

After what he went through in Uncle Sam's Army, Frankie will require at least a year to regain control of his nerves. Durocher believes Wurm has a chance to make the grade.

The Braves weren't very potent with their bats yesterday. In the first game, Ben Chapman, who spent a decade or more playing the outfield for three or four American League clubs, let them down with three hits and won his third game for the Dodgers. It was Chapman's second victory over the Coleman aggregation. He also holds a decision over the Phillies. And, it was the second time he has beaten Nate Andrews.

In the second game the Braves were presented with four runs in the opening inning. Then they proved, to the complete satisfaction of the 11,394 fans in the park, that the Senators are not the only club that can put backs a four run lead.

The Dodgers clubbed aboard "Red" Barrett for eight hits in 1 2-3 innings and when Ira Hutchinson took over, the Coleman outfit were trailing 4 to 5 and as they were unable to hit "Babe" Melton when the "ducks were on the pond," they didn't score.

Large John Hutchings pitched three scoreless innings and Leo Cardoni, who pitched the second game of Sunday's double-header in Philadelphia, chucked them up in the final frame and went for one run.

Same Old Story, Nelson Wins Again

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., strengthened his claim to the title of kingpin of modern golf yesterday by capturing the $10,000 Nashville invitational with a 72-hole score of 269.

FORECASTING BALDNESS

This young man has a good head of hair and he doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he loses a great deal of hair each day.

In a few years it will be too late, and his appearance will be permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Don't let baldness come to you since scientific Warner treatment and proper care afterward can prevent it in most cases.

There is no charge or obligation for a private scalp examination and consultation.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. There is a separate department for women.

Hours: Mon., Wed., Fri., 11:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tues., Thurs., and Sat. 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

Offices Are Air Conditioned

The Warner offices in Boston are located at Suite 329, Little Building, Corner of Boylston and Tremont Sts.

No Local Tilt Until Sox-Yanks Friday

There'll be no big league game here until Friday when the Red Sox open a three-day four-game series with the New York Yankees.

The Braves are idle today but they will play an exhibition game tomorrow night against Hartford, winners of the Eastern League pennant. "Whitey" Wietelmann arrived home from Philadelphia last night . . . He expects to be ready for the series with the Giants which opens in New York Thursday night.

"Buck" Etchison is out with a couple of bad knees caused by a collision with the cement wall in Shibe Park . . . Tommy Brown, who is getting a try out at short stop by the Dodgers isn't 17 years old . . . He is a product of Metropolitan High School in Flatbush.

"Nate Andrews shoud have been out of the third inning without being scored on . . . Warren Huston missed Mickie Owen's grounder with two down and then a walk and a single by Dixie Walker pushed across the first tally of the afternoon . . . Huston wound up his career as a Brave yesterday.

Ben Chapman side-armed the right-hand hitters and came straight over-hand to the left-handers . . . He also served up some effective "dead fish."

PHILLIES' GREAT PLAY

"Dee" Phillips won up the gathering when he speared Howie Schultz' line-drive in the fourth . . . It was a helluva play, a backhanded diving catch.

Chapman said that the pitchers threw at him for 15 years and now it is his turn to do the "dusting off" . . . Mickey Owen decided to be the umpire with the count "3 and 1" on Max Macon in the 4th . . . He thought Chapman's pitch was a strike and when he saw Tommy Holmes tearing for second he threw the ball into center field and the boy from Flatbush went over to third, from where he scored the tieing run.

Einer Andersen, pro at The Country Club, watched yesterday's twin bill from a field box as did Eddie Kirouvac, a former amateur champion of the state.

Frankie Drews can play second base and make double plays as well as anyone . . . If he could only hit.

Howie Schultz' reach paid off in the sixth when he robbed Tommy Holmes of at least a two bagger . . . After Holmes singled in the opening frame, the Braves didn't get another hit off Chapman, until the seventh, when "Chuck" Workman dragged a change of pace pitch and beat it out.

"Frenchy" Bordagaray hit a 3 and 2 pitch over the left center field fence for his sixth home run of the year in the eighth . . . The Dodgers' third and fourth runs were gifts.

With two down, Max Macon allowed Drews' throw to get away from him, giving Olmo a life . . . Macon still had plenty of time to get Walker at the plate but he took a full wind up and his throw was late.

PETE FOX LOOKS ON

Pete Fox, who is out of the Red Sox lineup with a bad back, was in the press box, but he was paying far more attention to the game in Washington than to the one in front of him.

Dickie Stack, who "hustled" score cards at Braves Field and Fenway Park before he entered the Navy, flies back to San Francisco tonight to return to active service . . . He has been in 10 major engagements in the South Pacific.

Ex-Mack Athlete's Sentence Commuted

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 5 (AP)—Gov. Edward Martin commuted today the 18 to 36-year prison sentence of Samuel B. (Red) Crane, former major league baseball player, who has served 15 years on a charge of second degree murder.

Crane, who played for the Philadelphia Athletics, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, was convicted in 1929 in the killing of Della Lyter and John Oren in a Harrisburg tavern. Miss Lyter's family said he was in love with her. Connie Mack, Athletics manager, has supported appeals by Crane for a parole.

Yankees Put Browns Out of League Lead

By Associated Press

"Beware the Yanks" was the American League's battle cry again today as Joe McCarthy's champs, smelling World Series cash in the offing, surged from 9½ games back on Aug. 13 to pass the staggering St. Louis Browns by a half game with 21 to play.

As the four contenders hit the stretch drive toward the Oct. 1 deadline with the Yankees making a bid for a fourth straight flag showing the way, the race looked like this:

Teams	W	L	GB	TP	H	A
New York	74	59		21	2	19
St. Louis	73	58	½	22	12	10
Detroit	70	60	2½	24	15	9
Boston	71	62	3	21	4	17

New York has won 20 of its last 28 since losing three out of four to the Brownies and being written out of the race. A tough series in Boston loomed ahead before the Yanks and Red Sox hit the road to wind up the season in the west.

BROWNS TILT PALE HOSE

Detroit had an 8-game set with Cleveland and two more with Chicago, and St. Louis nine tilts with Chicago before they entertain the easterners.

Two rookies, Walt Dubiel and Mel Queen, helped boost the Yanks up on top yesterday by shutting out Philadelphia, 10-0 and 14-0, respectively, on a pair of five-hitters, while the revived New Yorkers climbed on Bobo Newsome, Joe Berry and Luke Hamlin for a total of 32 hits.

St. Louis was knocked off the perch it held since May 31 when Cleveland grabbed a first game 6-4 victory for Mel Harder on Roy Cullenbine's three-run homer. Nels Potter stopped the Tribe in the finale, 5-1, but the Brownies, who had won only five of their last eight, dropped down a slot.

Detroit walloped Chicago, 12-2, behind Stubby Overmire, but bowed to Ed Lopat at the nightcap, 6-3. Boston also split, drubbing Washington 11-7 but succumbing to Mickey Haefner's pitching, 9-2, in the second tilt.

Pittsburgh picked up a half game on Cincinnati in their scrap for second place in the National by splitting with Chicago, winning 4-3 in the second game after dropping the first, 6-3, as St. Louis blanked the Reds, 3-0, for Teddy Wilks' 15th victory. The Pirates held second by six games and trailed the Cards by 16½.

Brooklyn advanced to within a game of sixth-place Boston by downing the Braves twice, 4-1 and 6-4, and the New York Giants blanked the Phillies, 7-0, behind Harrry Feldman, but faded in the finale as the Phils scored 10 times in the 8th for a 14-8 decision.

Bobby Doerr's .325 May Win AL Honors

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—Bobby Doerr turned in his Boston uniform and headed home to join the Army, leaving the American League hitting race to teammates Pete Fox and Bob Johnson during the past week, as Dixie Walker of Brooklyn moved out nine points in front of Stan Musial of St. Louis in the National Derby.

Doerr, although no longer with the Sox and scheduled for Army induction Sept. 19, could win the title on his .325 mark as he had been at bat the required 400 times with plenty to spare.

Fox was only a point back at .324 in averages including the Labor Day doubleheaders and Johnson was third at .322. Lou Boudreau of Cleveland at .319, and George Stirnweiss of the Yankees at .318, were the other leading contenders.

Walker clipped out 13 hits in 28 at bat to move past Musial and post a robust .360 mark to .351 by the 1943 champ. Joe Medwick of New York held third without a gain or loss at .343, followed by Johnny Hopp of the Cards at .334 and Phil Weintraub of the Giants at .321. Both Medwick and Weintraub were sidelined by injuries.

Bill Nicholson Leads in Homers

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP)—Bill Nicholson's batting average hasn't been much above .300 most of the season but the big Chicago Cubs outfielder is heading for his second consecutive season as the National League's leading home run hitter—with his 1943 mark already bettered.

Nicholson also currently leading in runs batted in—a department he also headed in 1943—poked No. 31 yesterday, putting him two ahead of his 29 total last season.

War Echo

Wrecked buildings and rubble in streets of Chateau Thierry, France, show damage the town has suffered in this war. In World War I it was the scene of bitter fighting before Yanks captured it in July, 1918.

All Over

These German soldiers, mostly snipers, were captured at Troyes as rampaging American columns of the Third Army raced towards the German border near the Saar basin. Many of the captives were wounded and have been given first aid while waiting transportation to a prisoner of war camp.
